Fads and Faddists.
Fighting Violence.

Copyright, 1926, by the Star Co.

A SYMPATHETIC editorial writer bewails the fact that Jack Dempsey, whether he beats Tunney or not, will get 14,000 times what Milton got for writing "Paradise Lost."

On the other hand, Milton probably would rather write "Paradise Lost" for $70 than beat Tunney for $1,000,000. Abraham Lincoln would rather have written his Gettysburg speech for nothing than beat Tunney and Dempsey both. Some things to some men are more important even than cash.

ENGLAND'S film censors are as foolish as some of ours. They have cut Mary Pickford's picture, "Human Sparrows," because the figure of Christ appears in the dream of a little orphan girl.

Little orphan girls, apparently, should not dream about their best Friend.

THE American Society for the Control of Cancer will "bar faddists" at its international congress next week.

That may bar somebody with a remedy for cancer or an explanation of the disease, now both lacking.

A convention of steel makers in England once struck from the record a paper read by a "steel faddist," whose name was Bessemer. His steelmaking fad now rules the industry. Beware lest you mistake truth for a fad.

FRANCE, instead of angrily resenting Mussolini's warning against harboring Italian anarchists on French soil, treats the matter good naturedly and replies:

"All right, we'll help you gladly to catch your communists and make France unsafe for them."

Hundreds of alleged anarchists have been arrested. Others will be captured as they cross the borders.

ITALY moves to restore capital punishment in accordance with Mussolini's threat.

The question is "can you fight violence with violence successfully?"

The British allow free speech, welcome all sorts of agitators as long as they do not agitate on British soil and the British royal family lives in safety and comfort.

Russia would tolerate no free speech under the czars. There are no more czars.

Democrats of New York are building up their platform for this fall as a preparation for next year's convention and presidential nomination.

To the statement of President Coolidge's friends, "prosperity is the only issue for 1928," the Democrats will reply, "you are wrong, making whisky the only national beverage, with crime on the side, is an issue."

It will be an interesting fight in 1928.

Good Proportions In The Diet

The problem of serving well-balanced meals often causes the conscientious housewife a good deal of worry. Adequacy, wholesomeness, attractiveness, and cost must all be considered.

The booklet Good Proportions in the Diet prepared by the States Relation Service of the Department of Agriculture covers thoroughly every detail of food selection, tells what kinds of food are needed, gives the proportions and amounts of food required, and suggests a number of menus for well-balanced meals.

Every woman who is responsible for the meals of a household should have a copy of this book. Send for yours today. Fill out and mail the coupon below, enclosing four cents in stamps for return postage and handling.

Tropical Storms In South Atlantic Are Moving Slowly

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—The three tropical disturbances in the South Atlantic are moving slowly toward the southeastern part of the country, the weather bureau announced today.

One is central between Nassau and Miami and is moving north west, with no strong winds reported. The other two, farther out to sea, are moving in the same direction. These are attended by high winds and are of considerable intensity.

TWO ARE DEAD, FOUR INJURED IN OHIO STORM

Cleveland Woman is Killed by Bolt of Lightning.

MOTORIST VICTIM

Trolley, Power and Telephone Service Here Hit.

The East Liverpool district escaped serious damage in the rain storm which swept Ohio last night, exacting two lives and injuring four other persons.

Street car, electric light and telephone service was hit when the torrential rains began shortly after 6 o'clock. Although the downpour continued for an hour and was renewed at intervals during the night, no serious damage, other than one or two clogged sewers, was reported to Service-Safety Director John W. Moore.

Trolley service was crippled for about an hour by the overflowing of a sewer at Seventeenth and Commerce streets, Wellsville.

Telephones Out of Service.

A 13-minute interruption of service resulted when the Ohio Power company's high tension line between East Liverpool and Wellsville fell. The company switched its lines onto the West Penn company's service during the emergency.

About 100 local and toll lines were reported out of commission in the East Liverpool district by the Ohio Bell Telephone company.

Three Traffic Accidents.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 16. — Two persons are dead here today and three recovering from injuries resulting from torrential rains which fell in this vicinity late yesterday.

Mrs. Lucy Kent, 31, was killed instantly by a bolt of lightning which struck her as she was handling clothes in her yard.

Ernest Huff, 20, of Ravenna, O., died as the result of injuries caused when his automobile skidded on flooded pavements and capsized.

Three others were hurt less seriously in traffic accidents attributable to the storm.

Lightning Kills Three Cows.

Property Damage of $15,000,000 Results as Thousands of Acres of Land are Under Water.

SCORES MAROONED AS DAMS BREAK

Cloudy Skies Carry Menace of Further Deluges as Onrush Causes Suffering.

Under overcast skies, which carried the menace of further deluges, the most serious flood since Civil war days was sweeping over 10 mid-western states today, carrying death, privation and suffering with the mad onrush of seething waters, fed by rain-swollen streams and rivers.

Lowlands Flooded.

Thousands of acres of land were under from one to twenty feet of water today and estimates of the property damage already entailed run to $15,000,000.

Hundreds of families have been driven from their homes and many others, marooned on upper floors of their dwellings by the high waters, face starvation.

Dams and levees throughout the district have crumbled before the torrent, flooding the lowlands which they protected.

Trains Re-Routed.

Automobile traffic through the effected areas has been halted for days and trains have been re-routed.

Pumping stations and water works have been forced out of operation when power lines succumbed to the flood and the danger of pestilence through water contamination loomed as additional menace today.

In some sections, no mail deliveries have been made for more than a week, and in many districts the only means of transportation is by boats.

An inventory of property damage, largely estimated because of the difficulty of an accurate check, follows:

Illinois	$5,000,000
Kansas	5,000,000
Missouri	1,500,000
Nebraska	750,000
Iowa	500,000
Wisconsin	500,000
Michigan	500,000
Ohio	500,000
South Dakota	500,000
Indiana	250,000

20 Deaths Reported.

Incomplete reports from the flood areas indicate a total of 20 deaths in the 10 states, directly attributable to the high water. These were divided as follows: Illinois, 5; Kansas, 5; Missouri, 3; Iowa and Nebraska, 2 each, and Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan, 1 each. Additional deaths and scores of lesser casualties will become known, it is believed, as communication is restored.

Meantime, emergency measures were being resorted to in an effort to alleviate conditions. Volunteers corps were stationed along dams and levees to prevent further collapse and relief workers were patrolling the districts in boats, seeking out flood victims.

Fear Levee Break in Iowa.

FORT MADISON, Ia., Sept. 16—Twenty-five prisoners from the state penitentiary here today were pressed into service in an effort to reinforce the levee along the Skunk river, eight miles north of here.

The prisoners, under guard, relieved many of the exhausted farmers of the district who have labored many hours without rest in the fight with the flood waters.

More than 8,000 cement sacks are being filled with sand and piled along the water front in hopes the raging

ANOTHER LARGE CROWD AT FAIR TODAY DESPITE OVERCAST SKIES

Wednesday's Rain Holds Off Until Race Program Ends.

DRIVERS PROTEST

Pretty Heat Marks Fight for Money in 2:14 Pace.

Despite threatening weather another large crowd witnessed the closing today of the seventy-seventh annual Columbiana county fair at Lisbon. There were 13,251 paid admissions yesterday.

Wednesday's rain held off just long enough for a monster crowd to emerge from the fair grounds after witnessing the last heat in the fourth race. Before the last heat was called, judges suggested to Speed Secretary Frank Dickey, of East Liverpool, that he order no sprinkling of the track because of the threatening clouds.

The only trouble Starter G. E. Pyle, of New Philadelphia, had during the entire race program yesterday afternoon was in getting the horses to score in proper order in the first heat of the 2:24 trot, the first event of the afternoon.

One Complaint Lodged.

Only once during the entire program was a complaint lodged with the judges, and that was in the first heat of the first race.

Two drivers entered the judges' stand and complained about the driver of Margarette Norval, owned by Wade B. Jones, of Sharon, Pa., who "broke" on the first and last quarter stretches and gained distance by breaking.

Judges admitted that because of the placement of motor cars—in the far east end of the oval it was impossible to observe the horses as the rounded that turn for a possible distance of six lengths.

All Races in Three Heats.

All races were run in three heats. Under the fair board rules, it was made known in advance that each heat would be a race, and that money would be divided between heat winners and also for the three-heat race. By this plan there was no "holding back."

The prettiest heat of the afternoon was the last in the fourth race, the 2:14 pace. The horses had a rest period of 25 minutes between the second and third heats, and they scored but three times before they were off. Six horses went under the wire within three lengths between the pole and second tier, and at the first quarter they were bunched, and they kept this position throughout the heat.

Klan Wizard Puts His O. K. On Borah, Reed For President

Dr. Hiram W. Evans Endorses Senators as "First Class," But Says Al Smith Has "No Chance."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16—The names of Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, and Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, were proposed today as "available for the presidency" in 1928 by Dr. Hiram W. Evans, imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan.

Granting a political interview for the first time in the history of the Klan, Evans endorsed both Reed and Borah as "first class, upstanding Americans," whom klansmen would be glad to support. He served notice too that the Klan would take an "active part" in all future elections, particularly the November congressional elections and two years hence in the presidential campaign.

As anticipated, Evans declared Governor Al Smith, of New York, had "no chance" to win the presidency. The ruler of the "invisible empire" in fact made it plain that Klansmen would desert the Democratic party, leaping across party lines into the Republican ranks, if Smith were nominated by the Democrats.

May Support "Wet" Candidate.

"Who are available for the presidency?" he was asked.

"There is Senator Reed," replied Evans. "He is one of our greatest citizens. He is a champion of the constitution and American institutions."

"But he is wet," it was suggested.

"He's a great American just the same," Evans replied. "Some time a Klansman will support a wet when prohibition is not an issue and when the candidate measures up to our standards in other respects."

Evans cited an instance where in a recent election, the Klan supported a "wet" Catholic against a "dry" Protestant, because the membership did not feel the Protestant was worthy of election.

YOM KIPPUR, JEWISH HOLIDAY, WILL BE OBSERVED HERE SATURDAY

Special Services Friday Night and Saturday in B'Nai Israel Temple and Sons of Jacob Synagogue.

Yom Kippur, or the Day of Atonement, the holiest day in the Jewish religious calendar, will be observed Saturday.

The holiday will be ushered in with sundown on Friday evening and end with sundown on Saturday evening. Jewish business stores will be closed Saturday morning and afternoon. Members of the reform congregation will re-open their establishments at 6 o'clock Saturday evening and those of the Orthodox congregation will unlock store doors at 6:30 o'clock.

Services in the B'Nai Israel Temple, West Fifth and Monroe streets, will be held at 8 o'clock Friday evening and at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. Henry Kagen, student at the Hebrew Union college, Cincinnati, will be in charge.

In the Sons of Jacob Synagogue, East Third street, services will be held at 6 o'clock Friday evening, 7:15 a. m., 12:15 and 4 p. m. on Saturday. At 11 a. m., a memorial service for deceased members and in honor of those who died on the field of battle during the World War, will be conducted. Rabbi Kohen, Pittsburgh, will be in charge.

Yom Kippur marks the climax of the 10 days of penitence, which commence with the New Year and is considered a "Sabbath of solemn rest," upon which loyal Jews, whether reform or orthodox, abstain from all manner of work and business, as well as from all food, drink and pleasure. The stirring prayers and the penetrating traditional music of the day, seek to awaken the human soul from its lethargy, and to rouse it to reconciliation with man and with God. The prophetic lesson for the morning centers the attention of the worshippers on the deep ethical and spiritual character of the fast. In the afternoon, the parable of Jonah is read, to bring home to the Jew the consciousness of God's omnipresence and of the bounty of His mercy, which recognizes no barriers between men or between nations.

CZECHO-SLOVAKIA WINS NINTH NON-PERMANET SEAT IN LEAGUE

German Delegation Gloomy as They Fear Result Creates French Bloc in Council.

GENEVA, Sept. 16.—Following two ballots the League of Nations assembly today elected nine nations to non-permanent seats in the league council.

Eight nations were elected on the first ballot, but it took a second ballot to determine the ninth seat which was eventually won by Czecho-Slovakia with 27 votes. The election of Czecho-Slovakia brought gloom to the German delegation for they fear that it creates a French bloc in the council, consisting of France, Poland, Roumania and Czecho-Slovakia.

CINCINNATI BOY IS AUTO VICTIM

CINCINNATI, Sept. 16.—Eugene Paul Silver, 7, is dead here today, ninetieth automobile accident victim in Hamilton county this year.

The youngster was struck by the auto driven by William Rust, 20, a tailor last night. Rust was arrested technically on a charge of manslaughter.

Traffic Diverted As Dresden Avenue Work is Started

The Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company today began to repair between its tracks and two feet on each side of the right of way along the Diamond-Horn Switch section of Dresden avenue.

Laborers are installing 130-pound steel rails, while a concrete base, in which limestone instead of gravel is to be used, will be laid for the paving.

During the work, which is expected to require 10 days, Service-Safety Director J. W. Moore today requested drivers of automotive and horse-drawn vehicles to divert traffic via Jefferson and West Eighth streets.

DAHLIA GROWERS MEET FRIDAY

Members of the East Liverpool Dahlia association will meet tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce rooms to complete arrangements for the dahlia show which will be held in the D. M. Ogilvie store on September 23-24.

LEAK IS FOUND IN SIKORSKY PLANE'S MAIN GASOLINE TANK

Captain Rene Fonck May Hop Off Tomorrow.

RIVET SNAPPED

French Ace Greeted With Applause at Roosevelt Field.

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Sept. 16. — Captain Rene Fonck's New York-to-Paris airplane flight, scheduled to start today, was postponed indefinitely at 7 o'clock this morning because of a leak in the giant Sikorsky plane's main gasoline tank. The flight may be attempted tomorrow morning if weather conditions improve and repairs to the plane are completed by that time.

Some Disappointed.

After mechanics had frantically searched for the leak, it was discovered that one of the 20,000 rivets in the gas tank had snapped and dropped out. From the small hole thus made, gasoline was gushing at the rate of more than 10 gallons an hour.

The postponement disappointed several hundred spectators who had gathered to view the take-off of the huge Sikorsky biplane on the longest non-stop flight ever attempted by an airplane.

A spontaneous burst of applause greeted Captain Fonck when the French ace, attired in a spick and span French army uniform, arrived at the field shortly after 6 o'clock.

As Fonck approached the plane, beaming happily at the thought of speedily being on his way to Paris, five or six workmen were slashing away at the silver gray fabric which stream-lined the plane on the near side of the right hand motor.

Fonck sensed immediately what had occurred, and for an instant he was dumbfounded. Then he shrugged his shoulders expressively and went inside the cabin.

No Structural Weakness.

For a moment it was feared that under the terrific weight of 2,290 gallons of gasoline, weighing more than 13,000 pounds, a seam might have been burst in the tanks. Igor Sikorsky, designer and builder of the plane, was gratified to learn that no structural weakness had occasioned the leak, and that it was attributable entirely to the cracking of a rivet.

The difficulty of repairing the tank was manifest, and Capt. Fonck, as he noticed the heavy mist which gathered around the field, reluctantly called the flight off for the day.

Lieutenant William Curtin, crack navy pilot who will accompany Fonck, was downcast at the postponement of the flight.

KIWANIS CLUB HEARS LONES

Lawyer Discusses "Constitution" at Noon Luncheon.

"The principles of liberty, upon which the constitution of the United States, as written on paper now yellow with age in the library at Washington, became the basis for the greatest government in the world, have always existed and always will exist," declared Attorney W. F. Lones in an address before members of the Kiwanis club at their noon luncheon meeting today in Larkins' annex.

Lones, member of the law firm of Lones, Hill and Davidson, of this city, discussed "The Constitution," in recognition of "Constitution Week."

Approximately 50 members of the club attended the luncheon. Club singing was led by Prof. H. F. Laughlin, with Claire Chambers at the piano.

Six members of the club expect to attend the district session scheduled for tonight in Alliance.

The United States constitution and its provisions were discussed in detail by Lones who told of the historical British revolts and the warfare and disagreements that preceded the actual framing of the constitution by many years, and which, unquestionably, were the factors contributing to its birth.

FAME OF PUPILS OF PLEASANT HILL SCHOOL RECALLED AS OCT. 2 IS SET FOR ANNUAL REUNION

Men and women who attained national fame as educators, warriors and in professional paths are among the former pupils and teachers of the Pleasant Hill school, Madison township, annual reunion of which will be held at the school on Saturday, October 2, it was announced today.

Plans for the reunion are in charge of Charles F. Bough, West Point, mayor of East Liverpool from 1898 to 1900, president of the organization, and Kenneth Fife, Lisbon, secretary-treasurer.

Dr. George P. Ikirt of East Liverpool, a former pupil and teacher at the school, will be the honor guest. Music will be rendered by the orchestra of the Lisbon Presbyterian church. Other features will be addresses, old time visiting, sports and old fashioned basket dinner.

Among the former pupils and teachers at this school was Judge John Reid, who was the first probate judge of Columbiana county under the constitution adopted in 1851. In the Pleasant Hill and Lisbon High school, Judge Reid educated his large family. Three of his children, Elizabeth, Martha and Anna, became school teachers.

Another pupil was Captain James Hamilton Mills, who distinguished himself as a warrior in the desperate conflict at Old Round Top, near Gettysburg, during the Civil war. At the close of the war, Captain Mills went west and established a newspaper known as "The New Northwest" at Deer Lodge, Montana. He was at one time territorial secretary of Montana and later a candidate for governor of the state. He died at Deer Lodge in 1904 at the age of 67.

Dr. George P. Ikirt, teacher in 1871-72, served for one term in congress, defeating William McKinley, who later became president. Dr. Ikirt has practiced medicine in East Liverpool for nearly 50 years.

Among other pupils and teachers were Prof. George J. Luckey, for many years member of the high school faculty at Athens, Ohio; Professor Thomas Brown, teacher and a prominent abolitionist; Judge H. D. Travis, teacher, Nebraska jurist; Rev. Elmer E. Fife, D. D., pupil and teacher, missionary in India for many years; Dr. Kent K. Hastings and Dr. Geo. A. Spencer teachers, Cleveland; Dr. W. N. Gilmore, pupil, East Liverpool physician; George A. Hasson, teacher, business man and former mayor of Chester, W. Va.; John A. Bough, pupil, pioneer locomotive engineer, now retired at Sidney, Australia; Jefferson Livingston, pupil, Cincinnati and New York millionaire; Prof. Lloyd B. Fife, pupil, East Liverpool school teacher; Charles F. Bough, West Point, first Prohibition mayor of East Liverpool.

The best approach to the school is from the Y. & O. car stop and Lincoln highway at Applegate's stop, one mile west of West Point. Signs will be erected for the accommodation of reunion visitors. Free transportation from the car stop will be provided for those without conveyance.

Change of Billing System

We have changed our billing system to meet new conditions brought about by the continual growth in the number of our electric customers. Our method of handling accounts in the past has been to mail all bills on the last day of the month, having the same become due on the 10th. of each month. Commencing with the bills for the month of September, we have installed a continuous billing system under which we will mail a certain number of bills each day, which bills should be paid within ten days from date of mailing.

Watch Payment Date

We would call your attention to the new form of bill shown about which will be used in the future, especially to that portion which reads:

If not paid on or before

will be added

In this space will be shown each month, the date with which your bill should be paid in order to avoid the payment of the Delayed Payment Charge due after the ten day period.

Better Service

This change in the method of handling your account has been done only after due consideration and by elimination of certain peaks in our work we firmly believe that you will find we will be enabled to not only handle your monthly bill and payment of same in more efficient manner, but also to give you better service according to your need in other respects.

No Waiting at Our Cashier Windows

We believe that all customers who make it a practice of paying their bills at our office will particularly agree with us, when we can announce that under the new system we will be able to render more efficient service at our cashier windows, eliminating the necessity of our customers having to wait in line in our office to pay their bill.

Orchestra Travels With "Big Parade," Coming Sept. 23

When "The Big Parade," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, directed by King Vidor, comes to the Ceramic for three days opening Thursday, Sept. 23, one of the interesting parts of the entertainment will be incidental music by David Mendoza and William Axt. This will be interpreted by an orchestra which travels with the company. In making their musical accompaniment to "The Big Parade," Mendoza and Axt, adapted music which was appropriate in some instances, composed other bits themselves, but always with the eye to the effective kept the tempo down so that the music was ever subordinate, yet supporting, the story on the screen. And, to their credit be it said, there is no so-called descriptive battle music in the score. Seats go on sale Tuesday.

They Always Like To Wear Kaynee Shirts and Blouses

Kaynee Shirts are popular among the young men at high school. Their trim fit gives the older boy that well tailored appearance he likes, plus the comfort he must have. They may be had in a variety of sturdy fabrics, and in many beautiful non-fading color combinations.

Particular care is taken in the tailoring of the Kaynee blouse. The younger lad never feels "clothes conscious" when he wears a Kaynee. Yet he has a pleasant assurance that he is well dressed, that his clothes will be approved by his friends.

Kaynee Blouses and Shirts are endorsed by the good judgment of mothers everywhere.

The novel patterns, smart styles, good fabrics and attractive colors typify youth itself. And the way the blouses and shirts launder is a constant source of satisfaction to boys' mothers.

Blouses, sizes 4 to 15. Priced at $1.00, $1.50 and $2.00.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1926.

Inter-City Football Game

With the opening of the football season in East Liverpool and Wellsville scheduled on Sept. 25 and Oct. 2, respectively, the question of resumption of athletic relations between the inter-city high schools, severed in 1923, is uppermost in the minds of lovers of the gridiron sport.

As a result of the controversy which developed here on the eve of the Thanksgiving game four years ago, the battle was cancelled and the two schools, despite the cost in loss of receipts, have gone separate ways in the interim.

Schedule makers, probably in the belief that petty differences should be forgotten, have left the Thanksgiving date open this year, and seemingly await action of the boards of education. But so far no move has been made toward a declaration of peace.

The consensus of opinion among the football fans of the two cities—and it is a safe wager the same thought is in the minds of the students—is that the hatchet should be buried, for unbiased sport followers agree that both schools are paying a heavy penalty for the four-year-old dispute.

Irrespective of the visiting attraction on Turkey Day, neither the East Liverpool nor Wellsville game will draw a crowd comparable with the attendance that is a foregone conclusion in the event the inter-city schools clash for football honors.

Surely it is high time for the school authorities and coaches to get down to brass tacks, mediate differences and arrange for an East Liverpool-Wellsville battle this fall.

How about it, Wellsville and East Liverpool?

Human Stock Show

Why shouldn't there be recognized standards of excellence for human stock as well as for domestic animals? Why not prizes for the best specimens of manhood and womanhood as well as for cattle, hogs and sheep?

Since Kensas started asking such questions seven years ago, and incorporating a human stock show in her state fair at Topeka, the idea has spread. There is regular provision made now for the registration of human beings, as regards their heredity, intelligence and health, under the auspices of the American Eugenic society, not only in Kansas but at the state fairs of Oklahoma, Arkansas, Texas, Florida, Massachusetts and Michigan, and about a dozen other states are expected to have similar departments at their fairs this year.

The Topeka fair, which opened Monday and continues until Sunday, attracts special attention as usual to its human exhibits. Instead of cash prizes and ribbons, bronze plaques are given. The various classes include single adults of 18 years or over, pairs of engaged couples, childless married couples, couples with one child, "average families" with two to four children and large families with five or more children. Every individual passing the critical examination receives a health certificate, and the best representatives of the various classes are given, along with their trophies, complete records of their pedigrees and examinations.

This is a small enterprise so far, but an interesting one and a rapidly growing one. Much may be heard from it hereafter.

Natural Beauty

One of the judges of the Atlantic City beauty contest says, with special reference to the latest winner:

"American ideals of beauty are being lifted to a new standard. The plucked eyebrow, cosmetics and artificial curls are passing, and women are now held to be beautiful when they remain natural and true to their own types instead of trying to imitate some one else's."

Let us hope so. Yet faith in such a change comes hard, after all this mania for artificiality that has swept the country and the world in these last years, and after what has been seen of prize beauties.

It will be a superhuman, and almost super-Olympian, achievement if this particular feminine beauty, now praised for her "naturalness," remains unspoiled for as much as a year. And as for girls "remaining true to their own types," even if the winner succeeds in doing that, what of all the millions who will forget their own types and forsake their natural charms in imitation of the winner, just because she is the winner?

Still, why expect any reasonableness in this matter of beauty? What women, particularly young women, will do to themselves to magnify or alter or conceal the charms God has given them is something that no man can ever understand.

Charleston In Berlin

Charleston dancers are having a high old time in Berlin. The celebrated American pastime has made such a hit with the Germans that the upper floor of a big tower built by the German Radio corporation has been conseciated to it. There the devotees will dance 360 feet above the earth.

The public authorities objected at first, being afraid that the dancers would "endanger the equilibrium of the structure," or in plain English, bust the tower, which was a natural fear. The dance dates back to the Charleston earthquake. Genuine Charlestoners are likely to bust 'most anything.

Women should tell their ages, says the president of the National League of Women Voters. Well, why not? Don't they tell nearly everything else?

The Terrible Tempered Mr. Bang— By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 16. — Around every stage door exit at night clots a group of curious. They want a fleeting glimpse of players without make-up and the dazzle of lights. It is usually a disilusioning process. The glitter is gone.

The chorus girls who spun in tinseled iridescence appear no different from the thousands of tired workers who erupt from factory lofts at dusk. The Adonis in white flannels who sang to the moon may drift out to the pavement in sweater and cap.

While they are not unconscious of admiring glances, most of them are not so interested in adulations as in food. The big meal of the day is usually after the play. The stars, however, as a rule pause long enough in dressing rooms to make a lone exit.

Then scurry across the sidewalk to their car and bowl away—tra-la—as though totally unaware of curious glances. The musical shows exploiting girls draw the heaviest crowd, next to the personal appearance of a noted movie star.

The stage door John in evening dress with a boquet of orchids waiting to press attention upon some beauty is largely a creation of comic papers. And the weekly batch of mash-notes received by a footlight favorite is a corresponding myth.

One of the most alluring of musical comedy stars—then unattached—admits receiving about twenty mash notes during a year's run and most of these were from young men she had met at various gatherings she attended.

No other actress has been the object of such stage door curiosity as Maud Adams. Her managers had emphasized her aloofness and she aided by never appearing in public. As a result, she rarely left by a stage door but went out the front of the house.

There was excitement in an office building across the way just now. The street suddenly filled. A fire wagon clattered up. Also an ambulance. A window cleaner, supported by straps, had shut the windows on the 9th. floor and locked himself out. Those inside could not open the window, so he screeched for help. A fireman broke the glass, he disappeared inside and the crowd moved sheepishly away.

It is somewhat like the crowd that watches a safe hoisting. When the safe is landed safely the crowd moves on a trifle disappointed. If a safe drops most of us want to be there.

The stunt men who teeter dangerously on dizzy cornices of skyscrapers while news reels crank furiously are, I am told, men who usually began careers as housepainters. On ladders and scaffolding they learned certain laws of leverage and equilibrium which inspires them to later breath-taking feats.

There is no record of Wall Street reporters making a fortune from some sound tip. As a rule they do not play the market. One reporter knew from an extremely authoritative source that General Motors was due for a spectacular rise. He did not make a penny out of the tip.

It is said that 60 per cent of New York's speakeasies are now above ground. Most of them are in apartment house buildings and to the uninitiated have the appearance of an ordinary furnished flat.

The plan of having customers of stores in Germany pay for purchases at one window and receive goods at another is being changed by one store, which will sell checks in advance of purchase, the buyer paying as he receives his goods.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Political Upsets.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 16.—Political upsets continue to feature the pre-election campaign of 1926 and party leaders are more than ever in a state of worry and wonder as to what will happen when the voters of the nation go to the polls in November and as to what all that is happining portends for 1928 when the Presidency will be at stake. Not in thirty years, the old-timers say, has a single campaign brought forth so many surprises, and they are at a loss to explain the political trend that has set in—if, indeed, it is a political trend and not merely a series of remarkable coincidences.

Most of the important upsets have occurred among Republicans, the latest being the defeat for renomination of United States Senator Irvin L. Lenroot, of Wisconsin. This leader among the stalwarts of the G. O. P. was routed by a progressive, Gov. John J. Blaine.

A few months ago no one among those who assume to know what is going on in politics had any dubt that Senatr Lenroot would be named as the candidate to succeed himself. He had maintained his position in the politics of his State in the face of all the opposition that LaFollette, the elder, could give him, and with the long-time leader of the progressives and recalcitrants in the party dead and gone it was looked upon as certain that Lenroot's star was in the ascendancy. In fact, some of his friends were looking forward to making him a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination in 1928, following his renomination and re-election to the Senate this year.

But Lenroot seems to have found in "Young Bob" LaFollette an adversary even more formidable than the elder LaFollette. At any rate, while Governor Blaine was the candidate, LaFollette led the fight, and was the central figure of the contest against Lenroot, and even those who are reluctant to give him the credit for the victory are forced to admit that LaFollette has strengthened himself tremendously in Wisconsin. His nomination and election to succeed his father are no longer to be explained as a matter to sentiment, and his leadership must be conceded until someone arises who can wrest it from him in an upstanding, unequivocal fight.

Other Factors In The Contest.

There were, of course, other factors in the Lenroot-Blaine contest that may have had much to do with the result. Blaine's record and personal strength and popularity favored him, although it may be said that Lenroot had the same things in his favor. Then there was the prohibition issue. Blaine was a wet in his stand on that question as a candidate could be and not drown, whereas Lenroot was charged with attempting to straddle the issue. Wisconsin is a wet State, it will now be conceded. Just how much the prohibition question influenced the result of the primary can not be determined, obviously, but being the kind of a wet he was did help Blaine.

To offset this, however, was the influence of the Coolidge administration that was thrown to Lenroot. That must have been a big asset to the Senator. Those who have gone through similar fights do not belittle the power of a national administration when it is thrown to a candidate for the Senate, and the fact stands that Lenroot could not win even with the backing of President Coolidge.

Lenroot's hopes for the Presidency, if he really had any, have gone glimmering. If his defeat for renomination were not enough to eliminate him, the spirit in which he has taken it would have made a complete job of it, for he has announced that he will not support his successful opponent. "I shall not support Gov Blaine," he said in his post-primary statement. "I could not do so with any self-respect."

Men who aspire to be candidates for President do not start out by announcing their intention of bolting their party ticket.

Lenroot's defeat is the fourth big upset in the political fortunes of Republican Senate leaders. Pepper, of Pennsylvania, was the first to lose out as a candidate to succeed himself, and then McKinley, of Illinois, and Cummins, of Iowa, fell by the wayside. Explanations as to the real reasons for each of these upsets may vary; but in all of them one thing is to be observed—the power and prestige of long and distinguished service in the Senate did not suffice to win renomination in ths year of the unexpected in politics, 1926. The significhance of this invites and is receiving much speculaton and comment.

Some observers say it presages the crumbling of the power of the Senate and Senators in national politics and affairs. Others go farther and say that seniority in either branch of Congress will shortly become wholly unimportant and that changes in the personnel of both bodies will soon be kaleidoscopic, with the result that able men will no longer find any incentive to embark upon a career in the Senate or House. Still others con-

THE FULL OF THE HONEYMOON.

In Chicago a vaudeville comedian married a lady who was likewise connected with the profession. Immediately after the ceremony he left his bride in her room and went to the nearest blind tiger where, meeting a number of very congenial friends, he proceeded to celebrate the recent event fittingly. Several happy hours passed.

Toward dusk the bridegroom went to the telephone and called up his hotel and asked to be connected with his room. His new wife answered. In a slightly husky voice he said:

"Is that you, friend wife? Well, this is friend husband. I just made a date for dinner. How's things breaking for you?"

LITTLE LOVE GOD KEEPS CAPITAL POLICEWOMEN IN CONSTANT DEMAND

WASHINGTON.—Either the little god, Eros, has a special spell over Washington's policewomen's bureau, or else Mrs. Mina C. Van Winkle, chief of the bureau, has a "picker's eye" that would put to shame Flo Zeigfeld, himself.

However that may be, the fact remains that marriages keep the bureau constantly facing a personnel turnover. With uncanny regularity, prominent lawyers, doctors, educators and engineers pop up from nowhere at all with theories that policewomen make good wives.

So far, eleven young women who came to the bureau as misses have left its ranks as Mrs.' .. Starting out to be cops, they got copped themselves.

What romance may cost her in the loss of trained personnel in the future, Mrs. Van Winkle hesitates to say. For herself, however, she says she will remain a widow for the rest of her life. And as far as Sergeant Rhoda Milliken, slim bobbed-haired chief assistant, is concerned, she is never going to be a widow, no matter how long she lives. Her reason is simple—she never intends to marry.

Of the 21 policewomen now on the force, eight are married or have been married. That leave 13 for Mrs. Van Winkle to worry about. And 13, she says, is an unlucky number.

One of the former members of the bureau, Sarah Tilghman, is now Mrs. George Hughes, of Dallas, Texas. She is practicing law there with her husband under the firm name of Hughes and Hughes. They were married one day while the court was taking luncheon recess. Meeting her fiancee in the corridors of the buildin, Hughes marched off with her and married.

Marian Bridwell became Mrs. F. Robertson Williams, of San Francisco. She took a vacation in California. Instead of returning, she sent back a wedding announcement.

Irma Wann is now Mrs. Peter Buwaldi, of Pasadena, California. Her husband is head of the school of technology there. The pictures of their two fines babies now grace the living quarters of the policewomen's bureau here.

If Tired, Worn-Out, and Run-Down Regain Vigor Thru Gland Treatment

Gland secretions are called hormones—mysterious messengers which Science has discovered exert a remarkable influence on health, strength and vitality.

When the glands function normally, they supply these vitalizing hormones (or secretions) which are essential to physical well-being. And when the glands fail to function, health fails.

Now, glandular treatment, which is indorsed by eminent scientists and physicians of this country and Europe, is being used by thousands of men and women to help overcome a weakened, worn-out, run-down, exhausted condition and to regain the strength, vigor and vitality that are the natural benefits resulting from a normal glandular system.

Glandogen, the new scientific gland tonic, provides a simple method of taking glandular treatment. Glandogen is prepared in convenient tablet form, for both men and women. Accept no substitutes, insist on genuine Glandogen, the original gland tonic.

How To Reduce Varicose Veins

Rub Gently and Upward Toward the Heart as Blood in Veins Flows That Way.

Many people have become despondent because they have been led to believe that there is no remedy that will reduce swollen veins and bunches.

If you will get a two-ounce original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil (full strength) at any first class drug store and apply it night and morning as directed you will quickly notice an improvement which will continue until the veins and bunches are reduced to normal.

Moone's Emerald Oil is a harmless, yet most powerful germicide and two ounces last a very long time. Indeed, so powerful is Emerald Oil that old chronic cases of Piles are often entirely absorbed and anyone who is disappointed with its use can have their money refunded. Mathews Medicine Store, J. D. BOBBY JONES TWO UP ON EVANS AT 18th HOLE

THIRD ROUND ENCOUNTER OF GOLF EXPERTS

Old-time Rivals Clash In National Amateur Tourney.

LEADER TRAPPED

Von Elm and Dawson Win; Ouimet and Wright all Square.

BALTUSROL GOLF CLUB, SHORT HILLS, N. J., Sept. 16.—Bobby Jones finished the morning round of his third round encounter with Chick Evans this morning in the National Amateur Golf championship with a lead of two up over the man who once was able to challenge his supremacy.

Jones was three up at the sixteenth but lost the eighteenth when he was trapped with his second shot and took a five against Evans' birdie four.

The cards:

Evans, out 455 344 743—39.
Jones, out 434 844 553—35.
Jones, in 433 444 355—36—71.
Evans, in 443 444 454—36—75.

In the remaining three matches of the third round Francis Ouimet and Fred Wright, rival Bostonians, finished all square at the end of the first eighteen holes, while George Von Elm, Los Angeles, was six up on Watts Gunn, of Atlanta, and George Dawson, Chicago, was five up on Eddie Held, St. Louis. Von Elm played great golf, getting a 73 in spite of the fact that he had five new clubs in his bag.

TROLLEY WRECK INVESTIGATED

W. M. Packard, of Columbus, inspector for the state utilities commission, yesterday completed an investigation of interurban passenger car-work train collision on the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company's line at King's crossing, near Steubenville, in which one man was killed and 18 other persons injured.

The state investigator visited the scene of the crash, inspected the wrecked passenger car, which was removed to the East Liverpool car barn following the smash-up, had blue prints made of the point of the collision and questioned trainmen.

Packard gave no hint as to his possible findings which will be reported to the state commission and later communicated to traction company officials.

A report fixing responsibility for the accident is expected within the next week.

Two Dead in Storm

climb into their homes, while a terrific electrical storm raged outside for hours, Cambridge today cleared away debris and went back to its routine.

John C. Longworth was injured when a cellar wall collapsed, crushing him as he was investigating a noise heard in the basement of his home. One other house was damaged by fire after lightning struck it.

Three cows in a barn owned by George Barnes, northwest of town were killed by lightning.

The storm struck suddenly with great intensity. Three and seven-tenths inches of water fell in the first hour, nearly another inch fell during the night. The National road was covered with seven inches of water from one end of town to the other, while water from overflowing sewers on Fifth street were two feet deep, reaching the first floor of many homes.

At least a dozen homes were struck by lightning while meagre reports from outlying districts showed the storm had swept through the entire village, although no injuries or great loss was reported.

Floods In Mid-west

water can be kept within its channel.

The river is now eight feet above the normal stage, and it is feared it may break out over the bottom land at any time. Such a break, it is estimated, would cause damage of more than $1,000,000 to crops.

Livestock has been moved to higher ground, and many farmers are making desperate efforts to get their stores of grain out of the valley. The roads, however, are almost impassable with mud.

At Augusta, the river is reported out of its banks, although there is said to be no immediate danger of its seriously flooding the town.

GOOD HEALTH HIS ONLY CAPITAL

This is true of many working men, (and women also) dogged with a haunting fear of ill-health and helplessness. Wm. F. Lagle, Anderson, Ind., heeds nature's warning sign of pain and acts promptly: "When my back hurts and an irregular flow warns me of coming trouble, I take Foley Pills, a diuretic stimulant for the kidneys. They give me quick results." A reliable, valuable medicine, constantly in use over 25 years. Satisfaction guaranteed. Cost little. Sold everywhere. Ask for Foley Pills, diuretic.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to hereby express our deep appreciation and heartfelt thanks to Rev. and Mrs. O. L. Benedum and the Nazarene church, Rev. B. H. Pocock, Rev. A. H. O'Brien, Rev. R. C. Ehrheart, Rev. Raymond Bush, the C. C. Thompson Pottery company and employes, Mr. G. A. Arner, physicians and nurses, the singers, neighbors and all friends who sent floral offerings or in any manner helped to lighten our sorrow in the great bereavement of our beloved husband, father, son and brother, Thomas E. Durbin.

FOUR INDICTED IN HALL-MILLS MURDER CASE

Widow, Two Brothers and Cousin Face Trial.

ANOTHER ARREST

Perjury Indictment Against Vestryman is Sought.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Sept. 16.—Confident of winning convictions, Special Prosecutor Simpson today planned to rush the trial of Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, her brothers, Henry and Willie Stevens, and their cousin, Henry de la B. Carpender. The trial may start the first week in October.

Henry Stevens, the fourth of the wealthy Stevens-Carpender clan to be arrested and indicted for the murders of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills, was locked up today in the Somerset county jail. Stevens, it is said, will demand an early hearing and release on bail.

The four defendants, all indicted for murder, will plead to the indictments before Justice Charles W. Parker in Somerville at 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, it was announced this morning by the justice.

At the same time he probably will announce the time of the trial.

Prosecutor Francis Bergan said he planned to seek an indictment for perjury tomorrow or Monday against Ralph Gorsline, New Brunwick church vestryman, who admitted before the grand jury that he heard the shots that killed Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills. Gorsline denied for four years being near the Phillips farm the night of the murders. He gave as his reason his desire to protect the reputation of Miss Catherine Rastall, who was with him.

Jail One Murder Suspect As Posse Traps His Chum

Elkton, Md., Authorities Believe They Have Masked Men Who Killed Chester, Pa., Youth and Attacked Girl Companions.

ELKTON, Md., Sept. 16.—With one negro in jail here today and another surrounded by a posse of farmers and authorities in a cornfield in Cecil county, about 16 miles from here, police believe they have the two masked men who killed Walter "Bud" Harden, of Chester, Pa., and attacked two girl companions, Florence Scott, 14, and Anna Klemsky, 17, last Friday near Chester.

Wilson Biddle, 27, held in jail, was captured when detectives followed an automobile containing Biddle and Walter Webb, the other suspect, and the latter's wife. As the detectives in another car stopped the fugitive machine, Webb jumped out and fled into the cornfield nearby, where he is now surrounded and is expected to be captured shortly.

GLITTER

By Katharine Brush

CHAPTER X.

The prom was madder now. It seemed to rush and to lurch and to romp. It was hectic, hysterical. . . . Searchlights marched over it, dyeing faces purple and red and ghastly green, catching the beads and sequins on the dresses and making momentary diamonds of them. The music panted. The musicians writhed and gyrated and sang and put on funny hats and beamed at all the prettiest of the girls. Innumerable feet stamped the last two notes of every tune they played. Collars were wilted, coiffures a little rumpled now. The stag-line was no longer a line, but a disbanded force roaming at large, grabbing right and left. There was intoxication. And there was another, subtler undertone . . . desirous eyes, fleet touch of mouths in shadowy corners. . . . The chaperones had almost all gone home to bed, after the immemorial manner of chaperones when they begin to be needed.

For a time Jock stood by himself, staring at the dancers, thinking. Molly had danced off with some one, forgetting him. He was glad, glad. What a relief! It was all over, then. Ended as affairs of the heart should properly end, by the decree of the lady in the case. He rather reveled in her final display of what he termed "backbone." For that he liked her better than for all the tears and kisses and all the meek devotion that had preceded it. Now if only she didn't repent in the morning and spoil it all—she wouldn't, though. She was past that at last. Funny how the thing had happened! An accident, succeeding where all his calculated hints had failed. He hadn't set out deliberately to irritate her when he picked up the magazine.

Boy, what a dizzy mob this was! Half of them tight. Plenty of headaches abroad in the land tomorrow. Prohibition . . . forbidden jam for children to smear themselves with. Funny how liquor did different things to different people. Some could control their legs but not their tongues, and vice versa. Girls . . . some stupid, blinking like sun-dazed owls, some hilarious, giggling foolishly at nothing. Girls who sprang up when the music started and shook their shoulders and rolled their eyes and swayed, with their elbows bent and palms outward, to its rhythm. Unofficial performers, aping their sisters of the chorus and the cabaret. You could tell the ones who weren't drinking. Faint lines of distaste and fatigue sketched across their foreheads. . . . Winky Winters over there. With a terrible edge. Hair all ruffled, and shoulder bare where she'd broken a strap, and didn't give a hoot. All she could do to get around. . . .

Jock never acknowledged a notion so old-fashioned, but he really intensely disliked to see girls drink. Not for any ethical reason; merely because it offended his sense of the fitness of things. Raw poison down soft white throats . . . reek of stale whisky on lips that should be sweet for kissing. . . . Even when he handed over his flask, as he was often called upon to do, and stood by while some pink-and-white maiden partook generously of its contents, a voice inside him cried, "No!" wildly, over and over. The thing seemed to him so inappropriate that it was almost sacrilege . . . like stumbling on a cuspidor in a dainty silken boudoir. . . .

Pondering this now, he felt a creeping nausea. So many girls drunk! Revolting, unlovely. Girls were put on earth for men to worship, and look up to, and adore. And you couldn't, in this generation. Idols with clay feet. Even when you shut your eyes you could still see them, moving unsteadily, mouthing the phrases of bar room loafers . . . "Set 'em up!" . . . "Awful thirst tonight!" . . . "Wet my whistle." You could fancy them being hideously sick, later.

Jock shook himself. "Snap out of it," he muttered savagely. "Don't be a doggone prude! Those ideas went out with hoopskirts. I drink, don't I? Why shouldn't they?"

He perceived Dopey Lane, teetering in a doorway, and he hastened toward him. "Got any of that gin left?"

Dopey mumbled something unintelligible but affirmative, and together they retired to the corridor. Jock drank deep. Ah-h, this was the way! This was the way not to mind what you saw—not to see anything you would mind. Conviviality and the spirit of the occasion and death to uncomfortable thoughts, in a few swallows of this sharp white fluid. . . .

He handed the bottle back.

"Keep," said Dopey thickly. "May need. I—Ivadnuf."

Jock spent the ensuing hours in a nebulous haze, warm and vague and very pleasant. Afterward he could recall only three things at all clearly: that Molly refused to dance with him; that he gave the orchestra a twenty-dollar bill to play Cry Baby just once more; and that he took a girl he didn't know outdoors for air, and walked her around and around the tennis courts, and was amused rather than disgusted when she gasped, "I can't help it!"—and didn't.

XI.

Prom broke up the next morning. Molly went home still violently enraged at Jock, and rather proud of herself for being enraged. She would even boast about it a little to her friends. "Believe me, I told him where to get off!" And in years to come she would list him among the suitors who had battered the door to her heart in vain. Women delude themselves so, for their greater conceit and peace of mind.

Cecily went home full of strong resolve, and happy because Jock had sought her out to say goodbye at the station.

Jock forgot Molly as soon as she was away from his sight. A closed book, Molly. A book that had started well, and ended in a fashion that contented him, but proved too unbearably dull in the interim ever to be opened again. . . . Of Cecily he thought in occasional fugitive moments, during lectures, or when he was alone in his room. He wondered if his advice would be heeded, and if he had given her anything that would prove at all helpful. He very sincerely hoped that he had, but he rather doubted it now. Reminiscences of himself in the role of mentor struck him as humorous. He conjured up a vision of an inscription reading, "'Things a Young Girl Should Know,' by Jock Hamill," and chuckled greatly over it. "I had nerve! What do I know about it, for cat's sake? Why didn't I send her to some other girl to learn her stuff?" . . . He did not realize that no girl living could have made the impression on Cecily's mind that he had made.

After the first few days, he quite forgot her, also.

Preferred!

As a rule we are not inclined to brag about MARATHON gasoline, we much prefer letting it speak for itself but there are exceptions to all rules and we are making an exception to our rule in this advertisement. You were told by a local competitor last week about a test made on various gasolines for a contracting concern and how his particular gas won all prizes hands down.

We can tell of ont only one single test but of dozens, for instance we'll be very glad to tell about the two local Doctors who made a test with MARATHON in a new Hudson Coach. We'll gladly tell you they were and of the astounding mileage they made.

And we'll be glad to show you a letter of an out of town man written to his East Liverpool friend about our products. He could not buy them where he lived so he asked his friend to order it sent him in drum lots.

Perhaps you don't want to go to so much bother, in that case just ask the driver of the River Boad Rus what kind of gas he uses. Ask him how long they have been using MARATHON and why they started.

And finally, if you want to test it yourself and forget the EXPERTS, let us drain your present gasoline and fill your tank with MARATHON and then watch your speedometer. That's the greatest test in the world Will you try it

AGNES AYRES IN RUDY FILM

"Son of Sheik" Screen Offering at American.

After several years' separation since "The Sheik," Agnes Ayres and Rudolph Valentino are in love again,—but only for the movies. Miss Ayres terminated a screen vacation of 12 months when she appeared with Valentino before the camera in scenes for Rudy's new film, "The Son of the Sheif," which is being shown at the American theatre.

The screen lovers of other days appear once more in exact replicas of the picturesque costumes they wore in "The Sheik," which swept both to fame and stardom. The new film is a sequel to "The Sheik," being also an adaptation from an E. M. Hull novel. Many of the scenes in which Miss Ayres and Valentino appear together duplicate the former love-making in "The Sheik" scenes. They are what is technically known as "flash-backs."

Out of courtesy to United Artists Corporation and sentiment for a film which meant so much to her success, Miss Ayres was prompted to sign a contract. When it was decided that "The Son of the Sheik" should contain "flash-backs" to the old Sheik, Valentino felt the picture would be incomplete without Miss Ayres. So she graciously consented to enact the role, although it was not her intention to return to the screen until some time later in the year.

The original costumes worn by Miss Ayres and Valentino in "The Sheik" were re-created for the new picture and are worn again in "The Son of the Sheik" at the American theatre.

A single by pinch hitter Paschal with the bases full was the blow that scalped the Indians as the Yanks won the first game of the big series, 6 to 4. Uhle, who had trimmed the Yanks in five straight games, was knocked out of the box.

"ABIE'S IRISH ROSE" IS HERE

Anne Nichols' Comedy at Ceramic Tonight and Friday.

When the curtain goes up on the first act of "Abie's Irish Rose," which will be at the Ceramic theatre tonight and tomorrow night, Harry Marks Stewart playing the role of Isaac Cohen, gets a laugh before a line of the play is spoken.

Seated on a divan, Isaac Cohen is deeply engrossed in a comic supplement of one of the metropolitan journals. One loud laugh from Isaac and the audience follows suit.

Mr. Stewart's guffaw is not a product of sudden inspiration. It has been cultivated and cherished for just such an occasion, as his role provides him in the Anne Nichols' comedy. It is a great aid of the characterization, typical and apparently spontaneous in its effect upon the audience. It was during the Pittsburgh engagement that Mr. Stewart developed his laugh. He realized that the laugh meant a lot to Isaac all the way through the play. What was at first a chuckle became a guffaw and its amusing effect upon the audience was so responsive that he decided to cultivate it even more, so that the laugh of Cohen is now one of the features of "Abie's Irish Rose."

Sale of premises to satisfy a judgment is sought in a petition filed in common pleas court by Attorney P. V. Mackall in behalf of the Ohio Contract Purchase company, against T. J. Putnam and Mary Putnam, with the Potters Savings & Loan company, of East Liverpool as parties defendant.

The petition relates that a judgment for $168.25 was obtained by the plaintiff against the defendants May 18, 1925, and that as this has not been paid the sheriff made a levy on lot 1088 in Boyce's Janesville addition to East Liverpool, August 25 last. The petition also seeks that leins be set up and that the premises be sold under court order to satisfy the leins.

FIELD AGENTS MAKING SURVEY

Field men representing the state department of agriculture who have been working in this county during the last two months in an effort to destroy the harmful barberry bushes, have completed the survey in all townships except Franklin, Washington, Yellow Creek and Madison.

The work in Elkrun township will be finished within a few days, and early next week the work in Madison township will be ended.

It required about two or three weeks to cover a township according to the extent of the infestation.

Department experts urge the piling of salt or the pouring of kerosene around the base of the harmful barberry bush to kill it, or to grub all the roots and burn the plant.

The Japanese barberry is not harmful, and no effort is being made to eradicate this plant, attention being directed solely to the common barberry which spreads black stem rust.

MONTH SETTING RECORD FOR RAIN

Nearly double the normal amount of rain for September has fallen, according to Cooperative Weather Observer Lawrence H. Copeland, a member of the county fair board. The normal rainfall for September for many years past has been 2.30 inches, and so far this month the fall has been 4.20 inches.

"The ground is pretty well soaked," Mr. Copeland said yesterday. "It would have been a very happy solution to have had some of this rain a little earlier in the season, as much benefit to crops would have resulted. As the month is only half through, the rainfall for September this year may greatly exceed all former September records."

DAMAGE ACTION FILED IN COURT

A petition claimed $3,200 damages has been filed in common pleas court by Samuel Moranz, owner of the Grand theatre, Lisbon, against John H. Hinchliffe, owner of the Lisbon opera house. The petition which was filed by Attorney Charles C. Connell and Billingsley & Moore declares that the plaintiff had a contract with Hinchliffe, whereby the latter was to sign a five-year term lease to Moranz, that a down payment on the lease had been made and that the balance of the money demanded in the contract to be paid when the lease was turned over is now in bank for that purpose.

Moranz claims that he has booked road shows and films for use at the opera house, and because he cannot get possession of the amusement place according to the terms of the contract he has suffered material damages.

NO ACTION ON MOSBY PROTEST

"No One Has Been Asked to Pay Fees," Says Solicitor.

City Auditor Fred Eckfeld and City Treasurer Wilbert Dales, who yesterday were served with notices by J. R. Mosby, a taxpayer, in which the latter objected to the city paying counsel fees in the Fultz removal fight, have been advised to disregard the notices by Solicitor S. C. Luccock.

"Neither Mr. Mosby nor any other taxpayer has been asked yet to pay these counsel fees, and it will be time enough when that is done to consider the matter of protests," Luccock said today.

Mosby, in the notices to the city officials, indicated that if the municipality undertook the payment of special counsel in the case, those opposed to it would begin legal action to prevent it.

The solicitor indicated that no steps toward making appropriation for counsel fees had been taken by the city yet.

Injunction Halts New Highway Work Near Stanton Park

A temporary injunction halting work on the Stanton park section of the Ohio River road was granted in common pleas court late Tuesday by Judge Jay S. Paisley as a result of the filing of an action to prevent Contractor aHrry M. Bates from doing any work on the proposed improvement unless an adequate and safe detour is provided.

The suit is brought by a number of Steubenville and Toronto business firms and concerns and individuals doing business along the road and names both the contractor and State Highway Director George F. Schlesinger as defendants. The injunction halts work on the road until a hearing on the injunction is had.

The institution of court proceedings followed recent verbal protests against closing of the road from the Steubenville city limits to Kings without a detour that will stand up under traffic. Various suggestions have been offered but none followed and Contractor Harry M. Bates, the successful bidder, closed the road Monday.

APPLY varnish stain to a metal panel. Allow the panel to dry. Bend or crease it over a straight edge. Then straighten it out and examine its surface.

An inefficient varnish stain will crack badly where it was creased, leaving a broken film that will chip off and expose the base surface.

Devoe Mirrolac will retain an unbroken film thereby fully protecting the surface. This proves the elasticity and durability of the product.

Practical tests prove Devoe quality.

LANDS PLANE IN PASTURE; COWS EAT WINGS TO GET BANANA OIL

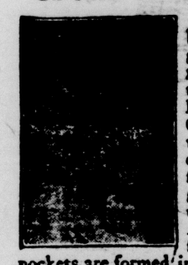
WAUKEGAN, Ill.—Banana Oil! The flavor is delicious and much to be desired to that of green grass, a herd of cattle decided, and as a result Les "Slim" Houck is out about one-half of a perfectly good airplane.

Les was carrying a passenger when the engine went on strike, so dodging a garage and a house Les brought his plane to land among the cattle in a pasture. He left with the intention of returning the next day to recover the plane.

The inevitable small boys who immediately gathered as the ship descended tell of the bovines' actions. First the cows licked the wings and finding the taste of the banana oil-varnish a palate tickler they proceeded to crunch away at the wings until only shreds were left.

Les mourns his plane, while busily at work repairing it.

Do Your Gums Bleed and Recede from the Teeth?



Tender, sore or bleeding gums, or gums fissured or receding from the teeth, indicate DEADLY PYORRHEA—the teeth's worst enemy. The disease first attacks the gums, later the tooth structure. As the gums recede from the teeth, pus pockets are formed, in which toxic poisons develop to be absorbed by the system and become the possible sources of other dangerous diseases. Don't let Pyorrhea endanger your health. The ravages of this terrible disease can be stopped, the gums healed and the poison the system has been absorbing checked, by the use of VINCENT'S PYORRHEA TREATMENT. For further particulars write,

Everybody knows that nasty-tasting evil-smelling Cod Liver Oil is a wonderful vitalizer, flesh producer and health creator.

But who wants to swallow the horrible stuff, when these wonderful tablets—McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, are just as good and so easy to take.

A box of 60 tablets for 60 cents and if any skinny man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds in 30 days—money back. Ask Mathews' Medicine Store or any druggist.

Be sure and get McCoy's, the original and genuine, and don't forget there is nothing on earth so good to make backward, listless, underweight children grow strong and robust.

STUDEBAKER'S New Custom Sedans

Mechanically up-to-the-minute
—artistically ahead-of-the-times
—economically the cars of the hour

IT is great to be a pioneer and still retain your youth—to sponsor new style at no sacrifice of traditional standards—to set the pace in appearance and maintain it by performance.

This is what Studebaker has done in these new Custom Sedans which are sweeping the country. Somebody put their description in a phrase, "Studebaker plus"—the final achievement of performance plus the newest mode in motordom.

Engineering authorities have long acknowledged Studebaker's mechanical supremacy in its field. And now with added refinements the mighty Studebaker L-head motor is widening its margin of leadership.

Studebaker's Victory Over Vibration

Studebaker's early adoption of the L-head engine forecast the present-day trend. Now 70% of American manufacturers use this efficient, quiet type of engine. And, more significantly, the largest builders of other types have come to this principle for all the new cars introduced in recent years.

Studebaker spends $600,000 annually in fully machining every surface of its big crankshafts—a feature found only in the costliest cars.

To insure a smooth, vibrationless flow of power, Studebaker spends over $600,000 annually building balance into its big crankshafts—fully machining and dynamically balancing each and every one.

Only seven other American cars have a power rating greater than the Big Six and these all cost from $2500 to $8000 more. The Standard Six is the most powerful car of its size and weight, according to the ratings of the Society of Automotive Engineers.

Studebaker's Transcontinental Triumph

Recently the Studebaker Big Six Sheriff—a certified stock car—dashed from New York to San Francisco in 86 hours and 20 minutes, through the worst storm in 60 years.

It cut 16 hours and 25 minutes off the best previous automobile record and beat the best time of the crack Limiteds by over 6 hours!

It added another victory to the long list already held by Studebaker—Barcelona to Madrid, the Trans-Australian Run and many others.

Studebaker's Inherent Durability

Owners of 817 Studebakers report having driven their cars from 100,000 to 300,000 miles and still going strong. Thousands of Studebakers in the fleet-service of big industrial concerns are proving their remarkable low-cost and tremendous endurance.

Factory sales of Studebaker repair parts average yearly only $10 per car in operation—evidence of the fine materials used.

The no-draft ventilating windshield—an exclusive feature of Studebaker Custom Sedans—is conveniently controlled from the dash.

Studebaker's Advanced Engineering Practice

For the past two years, Studebaker has been balancing wheels and casings to insure smoothest riding. Moreover, the semi-elliptic springs fostered by Studebaker are now used by 92% of American car manufacturers. Studebaker cars have a long springbase, and spring leaves of the finest chrome vanadium steel. Replacements of springs on Studebaker cars are less than 1% per year of cars in service.

There are many other betterments in Studebaker design—an oil filter and air purifier effectually seal the engine against foreign matter. A waterproof ignition system insures faithful operation in rain-storms. Even the spark plugs wear rubber caps. And a force feed lubrication system gives perfect lubrication under all conditions.

Over $100 Worth of Extra Equipment At No Extra Cost

To its in-built qualities of performance, Studebaker has added the charm of custom treatment and the luxury of custom equipment. Low-swung, full-vision steel bodies in lustrous and durable duotone lacquers; interiors richly finished and appointed, with broadcloth or Chase mohair upholstery, broadlace trim and Butler finish hardware; and extra equipment worth more than $100.

Four-wheel brakes, disc wheels, nickle-plated bumpers, front and rear—and a patented ventilating windshield which insures perfect ventilation at all times but prevents direct drafts or a drop of rain from entering the car.

Studebaker's Greatest One-Profit Achievement

These Custom Sedans are the crowning triumph of Studebaker's One-Profit facilities—possible only because Studebaker builds them complete in its own mammoth plants.

No wonder demand today is far outstripping supply for these attractive cars. See them for yourself—make your own comparison—then decide whether you should any longer deny yourself custom luxury, when you can enjoy it without custom cost.

Digman Twirls Laughlin Into Lead Over Pennant Rivals

Fourth and Crucial Clash to be Fought At Newell Saturday

McCoy Star Holds Chester to Four Blows and Pounds Out Two Himself; Aufderheide's Fly in Last Inning Sends in Captain Finley With Run That Wins Contest.

RETURNING from the western wilds to plague his 1925 diamond comrades, Pitcher Digman, who twirled Laughlin to a 1926 first half pennant, mounted the hilltop in the third City Industrial League "baby world's series" contest yesterday at Smith Field and by holding Chester to four hits while bounding out two of the six drives his club made during the torrid seven-frame battle, defeated the Riley nine, 3 to 2.

The victory give the Laughlins the edge in the series and puts Sol McCoy and his lads within one game of the pennant. On the other hand, a Chester victory in Saturday's clash will even the standing.

The count was tied twice in yesterday's bame, 1 to 1 in the third and 2-2 in the sixth.

Aufderheide, understudying Crawford, who became ill in the sixth and had to retire to the bench, broke the 2-2 deadlock and won the game for Laughlin when, with Finley and Parsons on the bags and one out, he sent a high fly to Mike Cebula in center on which Finley scored.

Digman who had made the second hit of the game, a double, and scored the first run, led off by singling to middle, but was forced by Finley, Wilde to Heckathorne. The latter stole second. Parsons walked. Both moved to third and second, respectively, on a passed ball. Then came "Aufty's" sacrifice. Herbert went out, Wilde to Heckathorne.

Stoffel's Drive Fails.

The score was 3-2 against them as Chester faced Digman in the final frame, Cebula fanned. Darkness closed over the field and a storm rumbled up the valley. Fans rose to their feet, ready for a dash to the exists. Digman, on the hilltop, was going good. F. Marshall drove to Finley, who easily assisted to Babb. Only Stoffel, who had tripled and scored the first tying run for Chester, stood in the way of a Laughlin win.

Dust swept the field in clouds and twice the batter was forced to step aside momentarily.

In dashed Captain Finley and Bagman Herbert. Laughlin rooters howled. Chester devotees handed it back. Umpire Fleming was patient. The wind, subsiding momentarily, permitted the players to get set again. Stoffel connected and the ball took the direction of right field. Despite the dusk, Sayres grabbed it, turned and threw to Babb, completing the identical play that ended the first Laughlin victory in the initial 10-inning contest Saturday.

The score was 2 to 1 in Laughlin's favor at the outset of the second half of the sixth. C. Marshall walked, only to be forced by P. Cebula, Finley to Sayres. The Chester shortstop then stole second and reached third on Hunselman's bad peg to Finley from where he counted as Wilde went out, Finley to Babb, which play, duplicated, retired Potts who followed Wilde at bat.

Ashe is Absent.

Pitcher Ashe, who had twirled both the other series contests for Laughlin, was absent, he having returned to his home. Digman, despite his injured wrist, thus had to work. His permitting but four hits and two passes while sharing with Parsons the swatting honors of his team with his double and single that enabled Laughlin to score the first and pave the way for the final and winning run of the contest indicated that his half season of rest had not seriously interfered with his hurling and playing capabilities.

Chester played with pitchers at second base and in middle field where Stoffel essayed to fill the role of L. McMath and M. Cebula that of Evans respectively. For the first half inning C. Marshall had to cover first as Heckathorne had not yet arrived and G. Cebula filled in during the interim in right field.

M. Cebula, though he failed to hit safely handled every thing that came his way in the garden. He made the most sensational fielding play of the game, a great run-back catch with his back to the crowd, of Digman's long fly in the second which prevented the opposing pitcher from having a perfect day at bat. Stoffel's triple in the second was the longest drive of the game. In the field he had no chances though Parsons' drive in the fifth came right at him, but took a side bound as he poised to grab it.

Evans Out of Game.

Evans, using crutches, sat on the bench as did M. Cebula in the initial contest on Saturday. With two torn ligaments Evans is doubtless out of the game for the series.

Despite the absence of L. McMath and Evans, the Chester outfit fought determinedly. But for three passed balls by Potts they might have won out.

The big back stop with his .444 batting average for the first two games failed to hit safely at all during the game, being retired thrice by infield assists before he reached first. Passed balls contributed to the scoring of all three runs made by Laughlin. However, in one of these F. Marshall put the scoring player on when he dropped Herbert's fly in the fourth.

Despite these shortcomings the playing was fast on both sides and the issue was in doubt up to the last moment of play.

At the outset of the second the game was delayed a few minutes in a discussion of the judgment of Umpire Douthitt calling Potts out on Herbert's assist, a bit wide. Babb took the ball in his gloved hand, the field arbiter waved the backstop out and instantly turned his back. The ball dropped from Babb's glove. Finally it was ruled that the ball had been temporarily held. No damage occurred, except the loss of time for M. Cebula fanned and Sayers threw out F. Marshall at first.

Wilde Sent Back.

Manager Riley surprised by sending Wilde back to pitch his second straight game. He was in good form. He allowed but six scattered hits, walked two and hit one.

Only in the fourth and seventh when he permitted a walk and a single to be bunched in a single interim was he in any danger. F. Marshall's error in the first of these plus a passed ball, the latter being repeated in the second of these occasions with a sacrifice fly resulted in scoring.

Digman doubled to left in the third after Hunselman had gone out, Wilde to Heckathorne. He reached third on Finley's out, Greene to Heckathorne, from where he scored on a passed ball. Parsons was then retired, Wilde to Heckathorne.

Stoffel, tripling to deep right in the third, scored on Heckathorne's single to middle. Greene flew to Bubin. Heckathorne was caught stealing, Hunselman to Finley. C. Marshall fanned.

After Crawford had fanned in the fourth, F. Marshall dropped Herbert's fly. The latter stole second and a passed ball put him on third, from where he counted on Babb's single to left. Bubin then walked. Sayers was called out on strikes. Hunselman went out, Greene to Heckathorne.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,

Maker of 61 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

Often when the ball falls into a trap at the green it can be taken out with a mashie as well as with the niblick. If the sand is wet or hard packed and the rise to be taken by the ball is small, you can cut it out with the mashie. In doing so, play the ball well forward, off the left toe, then make the blade take the ball cleanly by hitting directly down onto it with the idea of making the blade hit at the point where the ball rests on the sand. You make the shot about as you would an ordinary run-up shot with the mashie. Be careful to hit clear through the ball. If the pin is close, however use the niblick and swing it the same way. The ball will jump up to the green and will stop much shorter. It should not roll more than three or four feet.

Digman to Get Call For Fourth Battle; Riley is Uncertain

The fourth contest of the City Industrial league's "baby world series" will be staged on Saturday afternoon at Newell park. It will go nine innings and will begin at 3 o'clock.

With a two-day rest both clubs probably will go back to the battle with renewed form.

Manager Sol McCoy, of Laughlin, hinted today that he would use Digman on the mound.

Manager Riley has used Wilde in successive games. He is not certain about Saturday's selection. He will have Bennett ready again and, possibly, "Mike," himself.

LAUGHLIN DRILL TOMORROW NIGHT

Manager Sol McCoy of the Laughlin Industrial League club has called his players out for a session on Friday night at Newell park.

McCoy will put the team through a stiff practic workout in preparation for the fourth series battle Saturday at Newell.

Players are asked to report at 5:30 o'clock.

LIBERTY GRID SQUAD FORMING

Jack McLaughlin will preside at the organization of the Liberty football team this evening at the Liberty alleys.

McLaughlin plans the organization of a 150-pound squad and will play largely on the road, with a Saturday game at home now and then.

LOCAL SPORTSMEN TO HOLD SESSION

Session of the East Liverpool-Wellsville branch of the county fish and game association will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the Ingram building in the Diamond.

Routine business matters will be considered by the sportsmen.

After beating the Senators, 2 to 1, on Washington's errors, Detroit lost the second game, 9 to 5.

'Teke' Bough, Star Tackle on Last Year's High Eleven, Goes to Kiski

Clifford A. "Teke" Bough, one of the scrappiest and most efficient linemen turned out by the Blue and White scholastic eleven here in a number of years, today took a step further along the route to higher gridiron glory.

Young Bough left on short notice this morning for Kiskiminetas prep school, at Saltsburg, Pa., and will join the football squad this afternoon at 3 o'clock. His sudden departure was brought about by a wire from Coach James Marks, Kiski mentor, received here last night. Regular class sessions are not scheduled to begin until next Monday.

"Teke" is almost certain of a job with the Kiski combine. He has practically been assured of a berth by Coach Marks and even if this were not the case, his natural capabilities would qualify him for consideration as a first stringer.

Big and rangy, and with sufficient speed to hustle his avoirdupois across the girdiron, he is more or less of a natural born footballer. He's tough and not easily hurt.

Bough played a tackle for the Blue and White last year, although it's rumored he may be tried out on end at Kiski. With the high school eleven, he practically made one side of the line. They didn't go through where "Teke" was.

Bough is a basketball player with a lot of possibilities, too, and this will further add to his value at Kiski. Some ardent fans here, after a session with pencil and paper, have advanced the assertion that "Teke" was capable of collaring the basketball nine times out of 10 in the center jump. It's certain, at that, that few opposing centers were able to shade him consistently.

He is the son of C. A. Bough, cooperage shop operator here. Last year he was president of the senior class of the local high school. He will have a lot of friends rooting for his success at the western Pennsylvania institution.

GUY'S SCHOLASTICS TO DRILL TONIGHT

Guy's Scholastics, football team, will hold a workout this evening at 6 o'clock at Smith Field. The following players are ordered to report:

Edward Carriher, Edward Gillespie, Arch Dalrymple, Chap Finley, Eddie Bayley, John Evans, Tom Springer, John Garron, Bill Wedgewood, Otto McVey, Charles Loughley, Wayne Morrow, Herb Patton, Robinson, Leigh, Arnold Statz, Howard Eckleberry, P. Cebula, F. Amedo, M. Cebula and others.

Control Of Senate In Doubt.

The reasonable certainty that Gov. Blaine is to come to the Senate from Wisconsin, giving that State for the first time two progressives or insurgens in the upper house of oCngress, ha an undoubtedly important bearing upon the control of that body after March 4 next. It means not only an increase in the so-called insurgent bloc, carrying with that a better prospect of the bloc's holding the balance of power, but it puts a lot of pep in the individual insurgents and tends to the further breaking down of party lines. Men who have long held party regularity the most important part of their political creed will be discouraged, while those who are independently inclined will be correspondingly elated.

THE American Society for the Control of Cancer will "bar faddists" at its international congress next week.

That may bar somebody with a remedy for cancer or an explanation of the disease, now both lacking.

A convention of steel makers in England once struck from the record a paper read by a "steel faddist," whose name was Bessemer. His steelmaking fad now rules the industry. Beware lest you mistake truth for a fad.

FRANCE, instead of angrily resenting Mussolini's warning against harboring Italian anarchists on French soil, treats the matter good naturedly and replies:

"All right, we'll help you gladly to catch your communists and make France unsafe for them."

Hundreds of alleged anarchists have been arrested. Others will be captured as they cross the borders.

ITALY moves to restore capital punishment in accordance with Mussolini's threat.

The question is "can you fight violence with violence successfully?"

The British allow free speech, welcome all sorts of agitators as long as they do not agitate on British soil and the British royal family lives in safety and comfort.

Russia would tolerate no free speech under the czars. There are no more czars.

Democrats of New York are building up their platform for this fall as a preparation for next year's convention and presidential nomination.

To the statement of President Coolidge's friends, "prosperity is the only issue for 1928," the Democrats will reply, "you are wrong, making whisky the only national beverage, with crime on the side, is an issue."

It will be an interesting fight in 1928.

Tropical Storms In South Atlantic Are Moving Slowly

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—The three tropical disturbances in the South Atlantic are moving slowly toward the southeastern part of the country, the weather bureau announced today.

One is central between Nassau and Miami and is moving northwest, with no strong winds reported. The other two, farther out to sea, are moving in the same direction. These are attended by high winds and are of considerable intensity.

TWO ARE DEAD, FOUR INJURED IN OHIO STORM

Cleveland Woman is Killed by Bolt of Lightning.

MOTORIST VICTIM

Trolley, Power and Telephone Service Here Hit.

The East Liverpool district escaped serious damage in the rain storm which swept Ohio last night, exacting two lives and injuring four other persons.

Street car, electric light and telephone service was hit when the torrential rains began shortly after 6 o'clock. Although the downpour continued for an hour and was renewed at intervals during the night, no serious damage, other than one or two clogged sewers, was reported to Service-Safety Director John W. Moore.

Trolley service was crippled for about an hour by the overflowing of a sewer at Seventeenth and Commerce streets, Wellsville.

Telephones Out of Service.

A 13-minute interruption of service resulted when the Ohio Power company's high tension line between East Liverpool and Wellsville fell. The company switched its lines onto the West Penn company's service during the emergency.

About 100 local and toll lines were reported out of commission in the East Liverpool district by the Ohio Bell Telephone company.

Three Traffic Accidents.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 16. — Two persons are dead here today and three recovering from injuries resulting from torrential rains which fell in this vicinity late yesterday.

Mrs. Lucy Kent, 31, was killed instantly by a bolt of lightning which struck her as she was handling clothes in her yard.

Ernest Huff, 20, of Ravenna, O., died as the result of injuries caused when his automobile skidded on flooded pavements and capsized.

Three others were hurt less seriously in traffic accidents attributable to the storm.

Property Damage of $15,000,000 Results as Thousands of Acres of Land are Under Water.

SCORES MAROONED AS DAMS BREAK

Cloudy Skies Carry Menace of Further Deluges as Onrush Causes Suffering.

Under overcast skies, which carried the menace of further deluges, the most serious flood since Civil war days was sweeping over 10 mid-western states today, carrying death, privation and suffering with the mad onrush of seething waters, fed by rain-swollen streams and rivers.

Lowlands Flooded.

Thousands of acres of land were under from one to twenty feet of water today and estimates of the property damage already entailed run to $15,000,000.

Hundreds of families have been driven from their homes and many others, marooned on upper floors of their dwellings by the high waters, face starvation.

Dams and levees throughout the district have crumbled before the torrent, flooding the lowlands which they protected.

Trains Re-Routed.

Automobile traffic through the effected areas has been halted for days and trains have been re-routed.

Pumping stations and water works have been forced out of operation when power lines succumbed to the flood and the danger of pestilence through water contamination loomed as additional menace today.

In some sections, no mail deliveries have been made for more than a week, and in many districts the only means of transportation is by boats.

An inventory of property damage, largely estimated because of the difficulty of an accurate check, follows:

Illinois	$5,000,000
Kansas	5,000,000
Missouri	1,500,000
Nebraska	750,000
Iowa	500,000
Wisconsin	500,000
Michigan	500,000
Ohio	500,000
South Dakota	500,000
Indiana	250,000

20 Deaths Reported.

Incomplete reports from the flood areas indicate a total of 20 deaths in the 10 states, directly attributable to the high water. These were divided as follows: Illinois, 5; Kansas, 5; Missouri, 3; Iowa and Nebraska, 2 each, and Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan, 1 each. Additional deaths and scores of lesser casualties will become known, it is believed, as communication is restored.

Meantime, emergency measures were being resorted to in an effort to alleviate conditions. Volunteers corps were stationed along dams and levees to prevent further collapse and relief workers were patrolling the districts in boats, seeking out flood victims.

Fear Levee Break in Iowa.

FORT MADISON, Ia., Sept. 16—Twenty-five prisoners from the state penitentiary here today were pressed into service in an effort to reinforce the levee along the Skunk river, eight miles north of here.

The prisoners, under guard, relieved many of the exhausted farmers of the district who have labored many hours without rest in the fight with the flood waters.

More than 8,000 cement sacks are being filled with sand and piled along the water front in hopes the raging

ANOTHER LARGE CROWD AT FAIR TODAY DESPITE OVERCAST SKIES

Wednesday's Rain Holds Off Until Race Program Ends.

DRIVERS PROTEST

Pretty Heat Marks Fight for Money in 2:14 Pace.

Despite threatening weather another large crowd witnessed the closing today of the seventy-seventh annual Columbiana county fair at Lisbon. There were 13,251 paid admissions yesterday.

Wednesday's rain held off just long enough for a monster crowd to emerge from the fair grounds after witnessing the last heat in the fourth race. Before the last heat was called, judges suggested to Speed Secretary Frank Dickey, of East Liverpool, that he order no sprinkling of the track because of the threatening clouds.

The only trouble Starter G. E. Pyle, of New Philadelphia, had during the entire race program yesterday afternoon was in getting the horses to score in proper order in the first heat of the 2:24 trot, the first event of the afternoon.

One Complaint Lodged.

Only once during the entire program was a complaint lodged with the judges, and that was in the first heat of the first race.

Two drivers entered the judges' stand and complained about the driver of Margarette Norval, owned by Wade B. Jones, of Sharon, Pa., who "broke" on the first and last quarter stretches and gained distance by breaking.

Judges admitted that because of the placement of motor cars—in the far east end of the oval it was impossible to observe the horses as the rounded that turn for a possible distance of six lengths.

All Races in Three Heats.

All races were run in three heats. Under the fair board rules, it was made known in advance that each heat would be a race, and that money would be divided between heat winners and also for the three-heat race. By this plan there was no "holding back."

The prettiest heat of the afternoon was the last in the fourth race, the 2:14 pace. The horses had a rest period of 25 minutes between the second and third heats, and they scored but three times before they were off. Six horses went under the wire with ing three lengths between the pole and second tier, and at the first quarter they were bunched, and they kept this position throughout the heat.

Klan Wizard Puts His O. K. On Borah, Reed For President

Dr. Hiram W. Evans Endorses Senators as "First Class," But Says Al Smith Has "No Chance."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16—The names of Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, and Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, were proposed today as "available for the presidency" in 1928 by Dr. Hiram W. Evans, imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan.

Granting a political interview for the first time in the history of the Klan, Evans endorsed both Reed and Borah as "first class, upstanding Americans," whom klansmen would be glad to support. He served notice too that the Klan would take an "active part" in all future elections, particularly the November congressional elections and two years hence in the presidential campaign.

As anticipated, Evans declared Governor Al Smith, of New York, had "no chance" to win the presidency. The ruler of the "invisible empire" in fact made it plain that Klansmen would desert the Democratic party, leaping across party lines into the Republican ranks, if Smith were nominated by the Democrats.

Only Support "Wet" Candidate.

"Who are available for the presidency?" he was asked.

"There is Senator Reed," replied Evans. "He is one of our greatest citizens. He is a champion of the constitution and American institutions."

"But he is wet," it was suggested.

"He's a great American just the same," Evans replied. "Some time a Klansman will support a wet when prohibition is not an issue and when the candidate measures up to our standards in other respects."

Evans cited an instance where in a recent election, the Klan supported a "wet" Catholic against a "dry" Protestant, because the membership did not feel the Protestant was worthy of election.

YOM KIPPUR, JEWISH HOLIDAY, WILL BE OBSERVED HERE SATURDAY

Special Services Friday Night and Saturday in B'Nai Israel Temple and Sons of Jacob Synagogue.

Yom Kippur, or the Day of Atonement, the holiest day in the Jewish religious calendar, will be observed Saturday.

The holiday will be ushered in with sundown on Friday evening and end with sundown on Saturday evening. Jewish business stores will be closed Saturday morning and afternoon. Members of the reform congregation will re-open their establishments at 6 o'clock Saturday evening and those of the Orthodox congregation will unlock store doors at 6:30 o'clock.

Services in the B'Nai Israel Temple, West Fifth and Monroe streets, will be held at 8 o'clock Friday evening and at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. Henry Kagen, student at the Hebrew Union college, Cincinnati, will be in charge.

In the Sons of Jacob Synagogue, East Third street, services will be held at 6 o'clock Friday evening, 7:15 a. m., 12:15 and 4 p. m. on Saturday. At 11 a. m., a memorial service for deceased members and in honor of those who died on the field of battle during the World War, will be conducted. Rabbi Kohen, Pittsburgh, will be in charge.

Yom Kippur marks the climax of the 10 days of penitence, which commence with the New Year and is considered a "Sabbath of solemn rest," upon which loyal Jews, whether reform or orthodox, abstain from all manner of work and business, as well as from all food, drink and pleasure. The stirring prayers and the penetrating traditional music of the day, seek to awaken the human soul from its lethargy, and to rouse it to reconciliation with man and with God. The prophetic lesson for the morning centers the attention of the worshippers on the deep ethical and spiritual character of the fast. In the afternoon, the parable of Jonah is read, to bring home to the Jew the consciousness of God's omnipresence and of the bounty of His mercy, which recognizes no barriers between men or between nations.

CZECHO-SLOVAKIA WINS NINTH NON-PERMANET SEAT IN LEAGUE

German Delegation Gloomy as They Fear Result Creates French Bloc in Council.

GENEVA, Sept. 16.—Following two ballots the League of Nations assembly today elected nine nations to non-permanent seats in the league council.

Eight nations were elected on the first ballot, but it took a second ballot to determine the ninth seat which was eventually won by Czecho-Slovakia with 27 votes. The election of Czecho-Slovakia brought gloom to the German delegation for they fear that it creates a French bloc in the council, consisting of France, Poland, Roumania and Czecho-Slovakia.

CINCINNATI BOY IS AUTO VICTIM

CINCINNATI, Sept. 16.—Eugene Paul Silver, 7, is dead here today, ninetieth automobile accident victim in Hamilton county this year.

The youngster was struck by the auto driven by William Rust, 20, a tailor last night. Rust was arrested technically on a charge of manslaughter.

Traffic Diverted As Dresden Avenue Work is Started

The Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company today began to repair between its tracks and two feet on each side of the right of way along the Diamond-Horn Switch section of Dresden avenue.

Laborers are installing 130-pound steel rails, while a concrete base, in which limestone instead of gravel is to be used, will be laid for the paving.

During the work, which is expected to require 10 days, Service-Safety Director J. W. Moore today requested drivers of automotive and horse-drawn vehicles to divert traffic via Jefferson and West Eighth streets.

DAHLIA GROWERS MEET FRIDAY

Members of the East Liverpool Dahlia association will meet tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce rooms to complete arrangements for the dahlia show which will be held in the D. M. Ogilvie store on September 23-24.

LEAK IS FOUND IN SIKORSKY PLANE'S MAIN GASOLINE TANK

Captain Rene Fonck May Hop Off Tomorrow.

RIVET SNAPPED

French Ace Greeted With Applause at Roosevelt Field.

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Sept. 16. — Captain Rene Fonck's New York-to-Paris airplane flight, scheduled to start today, was postponed indefinitely at 7 o'clock this morning because of a leak in the giant Sikorsky plane's main gasoline tank. The flight may be attempted tomorrow morning if weather conditions improve and repairs to the plane are completed by that time.

Spectators Disappointed.

After mechanics had frantically searched for the leak, it was discovered that one of the 20,000 rivets in the gas tank had snapped and dropped out. From the small hole thus made, gasoline was gushing at the rate of more than 10 gallons an hour.

The postponement disappointed several hundred spectators who had gathered to view the take-off of the huge Sikorsky biplane on the longest non-stop flight ever attempted by an airplane.

A spontaneous burst of applause greeted Captain Fonck when the French ace, attired in a spick and span French army uniform, arrived at the field shortly after 6 o'clock.

As Fonck approached the plane, beaming happily at the thought of speedily being on his way to Paris, five or six workmen were slashing away at the silver gray fabric which stream-lined the plane on the near side of the right hand motor.

Fonck sensed immediately what had occurred, and for an instant he was dumbfounded. Then he shrugged his shoulders expressively and went inside the cabin.

No Structural Weakness.

For a moment it was feared that under the terrific weight of 2,290 gallons of gasoline, weighing more than 13,000 pounds, a seam might have been burst in the tanks. Igor Sikorsky, designer and builder of the plane, was gratified to learn that no structural weakness had occasioned the leak, and that it was attributable entirely to the cracking of a rivet.

The difficulty of repairing the tank was manifest, and Capt. Fonck, as he noticed the heavy mist which gathered around the field, reluctantly called the flight off for the day.

Lieutenant William Curtin, crack navy pilot who will accompany Fonck, was downcast at the postponement of the flight.

KIWANIS CLUB HEARS LONES

Lawyer Discusses "Constitution" at Noon Luncheon.

"The principles of liberty, upon which the constitution of the United States, as written on paper now yellow with age in the library at Washington, became the basis for the greatest government in the world, have always existed and always will exist," declared Attorney W. F. Lones in an address before members of the Kiwanis club at their noon luncheon meeting today in Larkins' annex.

Lones, member of the law firm of Lones, Hill and Davidson, of this city, discussed "The Constitution," in recognition of "Constitution Week."

Approximately 50 members of the club attended the luncheon. Club singing was led by Prof. H. F. Laughlin, with Claire Chambers at the piano.

Six members of the club expect to attend the district session scheduled for tonight in Alliance.

The United States constitution and its provisions were discussed in detail by Lones who told of the historical British revolts and the warfare and disagreements that preceded the actual framing of the constitution by many years, and which, unquestionably, were the factors contributing to its birth.

FAME OF PUPILS OF PLEASANT HILL SCHOOL RECALLED AS OCT. 2 IS SET FOR ANNUAL REUNION

Men and women who attained national fame as educators, warriors and in professional paths are among the former pupils and teachers of the Pleasant Hill school, Madison township, annual reunion of which will be held at the school on Saturday, October 2, it was announced today.

Plans for the reunion are in charge of Charles F. Bough, West Point, mayor of East Liverpool from 1898 to 1900, president of the organization, and Kenneth Fife, Lisbon, secretary-treasurer.

Dr. George P. Ikirt of East Liverpool, a former pupil and teacher at the school, will be the honor guest. Music will be rendered by the orchestra of the Lisbon Presbyterian church. Other features will be addresses, old time visiting, sports and old fashioned basket dinner.

Among the former pupils and teachers at this school was Judge John Reid, who was the first probate judge of Columbiana county under the constitution adopted in 1851. In the Pleasant Hill and Lisbon High school, Judge Reid educated his large family. Three of his children, Elizabeth, Martha and Anna, became school teachers.

Another pupil was Captain James Hamilton Mills, who distinguished himself as a warrior in the desperate conflict at Old Round Top, near Gettysburg, during the Civil war. At the close of the war, Captain Mills went west and established a newspaper known as 'The New Northwest" at Deer Lodge, Montana. He was at one time territorial secretary of Montana and later a candidate for governor of the state. He died at Deer Lodge in 1904 at the age of 67.

Dr. George P. Ikirt, teacher in 1871-72, served for one term in congress, defeating William McKinley, who later became president. Dr. Ikirt has practiced medicine in East Liverpool for nearly 50 years.

Among other pupils and teachers were Prof. George J. Luckey, for many years member of the high school faculty at Athens, Ohio; Professor Thomas Brown, teacher and a prominent abolitionist; Judge H. D. Travis, teacher, Nebraska jurist; Rev. Elmer E. Fife, D. D., pupil and teacher, missionary in India for many years; Dr. Kent K. Hastings and Dr. Geo. A. Spencer teachers, Cleveland; Dr. W. N. Gilmore, pupil, East Liverpool physician; George A. Hasson, teacher, business man and former mayor of Chester, W. Va.; John A. Bough, pupil, pioneer locomotive engineer, now retired at Sidney, Australia; Jefferson Livingston, pupil, Cincinnati and New York millionaire; Prof. Lloyd B. Fife, pupil, East Liverpool school teacher; Charles F. Bough, West Point, first Prohibition mayor of East Liverpool.

The best approach to the school is from the Y. & O. car stop and Lincoln highway at Applegate's stop, one mile west of West Point. Signs will be erected for the accommodation of reunion visitors. Free transportation from the car stop will be provided for those without conveyance.

The problem of serving well-balanced meals often causes the conscientious housewife a good deal of worry. Adequacy, wholesomeness, attractiveness, and cost must all be considered.

The booklet Good Proportions in the Diet prepared by the States Relation Service of the Department of Agriculture covers thoroughly every detail of food selection, tells what kinds of food are needed, gives the proportions and amounts of food required, and suggests a number of menus for well-balanced meals.

Every woman who is responsible for the meals of a household should have a copy of this book. Send for yours today. Fill out and mail the coupon below, enclosing four cents in stamps for return postage and handling.

Tropical Storms In South Atlantic Are Moving Slowly

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—The three tropical disturbances in the South Atlantic are moving slowly toward the southeastern part of the country, the weather bureau announced today.

One is central between Nassau and Miami and is moving north west, with no strong winds reported. The other two, farther out to sea, are moving in the same direction. These are attended by high winds and are of considerable intensity.

TWO ARE DEAD, FOUR INJURED IN OHIO STORM

Cleveland Woman is Killed by Bolt of Lightning.

MOTORIST VICTIM

Trolley, Power and Telephone Service Here Hit.

The East Liverpool district escaped serious damage in the rain storm which swept Ohio last night, exacting two lives and injuring four other persons.

Street car, electric light and telephone service was hit when the torrential rains began shortly after 6 o'clock. Although the downpour continued for an hour and was renewed at intervals during the night, no serious damage, other than one or two clogged sewers, was reported to Service-Safety Director John W. Moore.

Trolley service was crippled for about an hour by the overflowing of a sewer at Seventeenth and Commerce streets, Wellsville.

Telephones Out of Service.

A 13-minute interruption of service resulted when the Ohio Power company's high tension line between East Liverpool and Wellsville fell. The company switched its lines onto the West Penn company's service during the emergency.

About 100 local and toll lines were reported out of commission in the East Liverpool district by the Ohio Bell Telephone company.

Three Traffic Accidents.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 16. — Two persons are dead here today and three recovering from injuries resulting from torrential rains which fell in this vicinity late yesterday.

Mrs. Lucy Kent, 31, was killed instantly by a bolt of lightning which struck her as she was handling clothes in her yard.

Ernest Huff, 20, of Ravenna, O., died as the result of injuries caused when his automobile skidded on flooded pavements and capsized.

Three others were hurt less seriously in traffic accidents attributable to the storm.

Property Damage of $15,000,000 Results as Thousands of Acres of Land are Under Water.

SCORES MAROONED AS DAMS BREAK

Cloudy Skies Carry Menace of Further Deluges as Onrush Causes Suffering.

Under overcast skies, which carried the menace of further deluges, the most serious flood since Civil war days was sweeping over 10 mid-western states today, carrying death, privation and suffering with the mad onrush of seething waters, fed by rain-swollen streams and rivers.

Lowlands Flooded.

Thousands of acres of land were under from one to twenty feet of water today and estimates of the property damage already entailed run to $15,000,000.

Hundreds of families have been driven from their homes and many others, marooned on upper floors of their dwellings by the high waters, face starvation.

Dams and levees throughout the district have crumbled before the torrent, flooding the lowlands which they protected.

Trains Re-Routed.

Automobile traffic through the effected areas has been halted for days and trains have been re-routed.

Pumping stations and water works have been forced out of operation when power lines succumbed to the flood and the danger of pestilence through water contamination loomed as additional menace today.

In some sections, no mail deliveries have been made for more than a week, and in many districts the only means of transportation is by boats.

An inventory of property damage, largely estimated because of the difficulty of an accurate check, follows:

Illinois	$5,000,000
Kansas	5,000,000
Missouri	1,500,000
Nebraska	750,000
Iowa	500,000
Wisconsin	500,000
Michigan	500,000
Ohio	500,000
South Dakota	500,000
Indiana	250,000

20 Deaths Reported.

Incomplete reports from the flood areas indicate a total of 20 deaths in the 10 states, directly attributable to the high water. These were divided as follows: Illinois, 5; Kansas, 5; Missouri, 3; Iowa and Nebraska, 2 each, and Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan, 1 each. Additional deaths and scores of lesser casualties will become known, it is believed, as communication is restored.

Meantime, emergency measures were being resorted to in an effort to alleviate conditions. Volunteers corps were stationed along dams and levees to prevent further collapse and relief workers were patrolling the districts in boats, seeking out flood victims.

Fear Levee Break In Iowa.

FORT MADISON, Ia., Sept. 16—Twenty-five prisoners from the state penitentiary here today were pressed into service in an effort to reinforce the levee along the Skunk river, eight miles north of here.

The prisoners, under guard, relieved many of the exhausted farmers of the district who have labored many hours without rest in the fight with the flood waters.

More than 8,000 cement sacks are being filled with sand and piled along the water front in hopes the raging

ANOTHER LARGE CROWD AT FAIR TODAY DESPITE OVERCAST SKIES

Wednesday's Rain Holds Off Until Race Program Ends.

DRIVERS PROTEST

Pretty Heat Marks Fight for Money in 2:14 Pace.

Despite threatening weather another large crowd witnessed the closing today of the seventy-seventh annual Columbiana county fair at Lisbon. There were 13,251 paid admissions yesterday.

Wednesday's rain held off just long enough for a monster crowd to emerge from the fair grounds after witnessing the last heat in the fourth race. Before the last heat was called, judges suggested to Speed Secretary Frank Dickey, of East Liverpool, that he order no sprinkling of the track because of the threatening clouds.

The only trouble Starter G. E. Pyle, of New Philadelphia, had during the entire race program yesterday afternoon was in getting the horses to score in proper order in the first heat of the 2:24 trot, the first event of the afternoon.

One Complaint Lodged.

Only once during the entire program was a complaint lodged with the judges, and that was in the first heat of the first race.

Two drivers entered the judges' stand and complained about the driver of Margarette Norval, owned by Wade B. Jones, of Sharon, Pa., who "broke" on the first and last quarter stretches and gained distance by breaking.

Judges admitted that because of the placement of motor cars—in the far east end of the oval it was impossible to observe the horses as the rounded that turn for a possible distance of six lengths.

All Races in Three Heats.

All races were run in three heats. Under the fair board rules, it was made known in advance that each heat would be a race, and that money would be divided between heat winners and also for the three-heat race. By this plan there was no "holding back."

The prettiest heat of the afternoon was the last in the fourth race, the 2:14 pace. The horses had a rest period of 25 minutes between the second and third heats, and they scored but three times before they were off. Six horses went under the wire with ing three lengths between the pole and second tier, and at the first quarter they were bunched, and they kept this position throughout the heat.

Klan Wizard Puts His O. K. On Borah, Reed For President

Dr. Hiram W. Evans Endorses Senators as "First Class," But Says Al Smith Has "No Chance."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16—The names of Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, and Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, were proposed today as "available for the presidency" in 1928 by Dr. Hiram W. Evans, imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan.

Granting a political interview for the first time in the history of the Klan, Evans endorsed both Reed and Borah as "first class, upstanding Americans," whom klansmen would be glad to support. He served notice too that the Klan would take an "active part" in all future elections, particularly the November congressional elections and two years hence in the presidential campaign.

As anticipated, Evans declared Governor Al Smith, of New York, had "no chance" to win the presidency. The ruler of the "invisible empire" in fact made it plain that Klansmen would desert the Democratic party, leaping across party lines into the Republican ranks, if Smith were nominated by the Democrats.

May Support "Wet" Candidate.

"Who are available for the presidency?" he was asked.

"There is Senator Reed," replied Evans. "He is one of our greatest citizens. He is a champion of the constitution and American institutions."

"But he is wet," it was suggested.

"He's a great American just the same," Evans replied. "Some time a Klansman will support a wet when prohibition is not an issue and when the candidate measures up to our standards in other respects."

Evans cited an instance where in a recent election, the Klan supported a "wet" Catholic against a "dry" Protestant, because the membership did not feel the Protestant was worthy of election.

YOM KIPPUR, JEWISH HOLIDAY, WILL BE OBSERVED HERE SATURDAY

Special Services Friday Night and Saturday in B'Nai Israel Temple and Sons of Jacob Synagogue.

Yom Kippur, or the Day of Atonement, the holiest day in the Jewish religious calendar, will be observed Saturday.

The holiday will be ushered in with sundown on Friday evening and end with sundown on Saturday evening. Jewish owned stores will be closed Saturday morning and afternoon. Members of the reform congregation will re-open their establishments at 6 o'clock Saturday evening and those of the Orthodox congregation will unlock store doors at 6:30 o'clock.

Services in the B'Nai Israel Temple, West Fifth and Monroe streets, will be held at 8 o'clock Friday evening and at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. Henry Kagen, student at the Hebrew Union college, Cincinnati, will be in charge.

In the Sons of Jacob Synagogue, East Third street, services will be held at 6 o'clock Friday evening, 7:15 a. m., 12:15 and 4 p. m. on Saturday. At 11 a. m., a memorial service for deceased members and in honor of those who died on the field of battle during the World War, will be conducted. Rabbi Kohen, Pittsburgh, will be in charge.

Yom Kippur marks the climax of the 10 days of penitence, which commence with the New Year and is considered a "Sabbath of solemn rest," upon which loyal Jews, whether reform or orthodox, abstain from all manner of work and business, as well as from all food, drink and pleasure. The stirring prayers and the penetrating traditional music of the day, seek to awaken the human soul from its lethargy, and to rouse it to reconciliation with man and with God. The prophetic lesson for the morning centers the attention of the worshippers on the deep ethical and spiritual character of the fast. In the afternoon, the parable of Jonah is read, to bring home to the Jew the consciousness of God's omnipresence and of the bounty of His mercy, which recognizes no barriers between men or between nations.

CZECHO-SLOVAKIA WINS NINTH NON-PERMANET SEAT IN LEAGUE

German Delegation Gloomy as They Fear Result Creates French Bloc in Council.

GENEVA, Sept. 16.—Following two ballots the League of Nations assembly today elected nine nations to non-permanent seats in the league council.

Eight nations were elected on the first ballot, but it took a second ballot to determine the ninth seat which was eventually won by Czecho-Slovakia with 27 votes. The election of Czecho-Slovakia brought gloom to the German delegation for they fear that it creates a French bloc in the council, consisting of France, Poland, Roumania and Czecho-Slovakia.

CINCINNATI BOY IS AUTO VICTIM

CINCINNATI, Sept. 16.—Eugene Paul Silver, 7, is dead here today, ninetieth automobile accident victim in Hamilton county this year.

The youngster was struck by the auto driven by William Rust, 20, a tailor last night. Rust was arrested technically on a charge of manslaughter.

Traffic Diverted As Dresden Avenue Work is Started

The Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company today began to repair between its tracks and two feet on each side of the right of way along the Diamond-Horn Switch section of Dresden avenue.

Laborers are installing 130-pound steel rails, while a concrete base, in which limestone instead of gravel is to be used, will be laid for the paving.

During the work, which is expected to require 10 days, Service-Safety Director J. W. Moore today requested drivers of automotive and horse-drawn vehicles to divert traffic via Jefferson and West Eighth streets.

DAHLIA GROWERS MEET FRIDAY

Members of the East Liverpool Dahlia association will meet tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce rooms to complete arrangements for the dahlia show which will be held in the D. M. Ogilvie store on September 23-24.

LEAK IS FOUND IN SIKORSKY PLANE'S MAIN GASOLINE TANK

Captain Rene Fonck May Hop Off Tomorrow.

RIVET SNAPPED

French Ace Greeted With Applause at Roosevelt Field.

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Sept. 16. — Captain Rene Fonck's New York-to-Paris airplane flight, scheduled to start today, was postponed indefinitely at 7 o'clock this morning because of a leak in the giant Sikorsky plane's main gasoline tank. The flight may be attempted tomorrow morning if weather conditions improve and repairs to the plane are completed by that time.

Spectators Disappointed.

After mechanics had frantically searched for the leak, it was discovered that one of the 20,000 rivets in the gas tank had snapped and dropped out. From the small hole thus made, gasoline was gushing at the rate of more than 10 gallons an hour.

The postponement disappointed several hundred spectators who had gathered to view the take-off of the huge Sikorsky biplane on the longest non-stop flight ever attempted by an airplane.

A spontaneous burst of applause greeted Captain Fonck when the French ace, attired in a spick and span French army uniform, arrived at the field shortly after 6 o'clock.

As Fonck approached the plane, beaming happily at the thought of speedily being on his way to Paris, five or six workmen were slashing away at the silver gray fabric which stream-lined the plane on the near side of the right hand motor.

Fonck sensed immediately what had occurred, and for an instant he was dumbfounded. Then he shrugged his shoulders expressively and went inside the cabin.

No Structural Weakness.

For a moment it was feared that under the terrific weight of 2,290 gallons of gasoline, weighing more than 13,000 pounds, a seam might have been burst in the tanks. Igor Sikorsky, designer and builder of the plane, was gratified to learn that no structural weakness had occasioned the leak, and that it was attributable entirely to the cracking of a rivet.

The difficulty of repairing the tank was manifest, and Capt. Fonck, as he noticed the heavy mist which gathered around the field, reluctantly called the flight off for the day.

Lieutenant William Curtin, crack navy pilot who will accompany Fonck, was downcast at the postponement of the flight.

KIWANIS CLUB HEARS LONES

Lawyer Discusses "Constitution" at Noon Luncheon.

"The principles of liberty, upon which the constitution of the United States, as written on paper now yellow with age in the library at Washington, became the basis for the greatest government in the world, have always existed and always will exist," declared Attorney W. F. Lones in an address before members of the Kiwanis club at their noon luncheon meeting today in Larkins' annex.

Lones, member of the law firm of Lones, Hill and Davidson, of this city, discussed "The Constitution," in recognition of "Constitution Week."

Approximately 50 members of the club attended the luncheon. Club singing was led by Prof. H. F. Laughlin, with Claire Chambers at the piano.

Six members of the club expect to attend the district session scheduled for tonight in Alliance.

The United States constitution and its provisions were discussed in detail by Lones who told of the historical British revolts and the warfare and disagreements that preceded the actual framing of the constitution by many years, and which, unquestionably, were the factors contributing to its birth.

FAME OF PUPILS OF PLEASANT HILL SCHOOL RECALLED AS OCT. 2 IS SET FOR ANNUAL REUNION

Men and women who attained national fame as educators, warriors and in professional paths are among the former pupils and teachers of the Pleasant Hill school, Madison township, annual reunion of which will be held at the school on Saturday, October 2, it was announced today.

Plans for the reunion are in charge of Charles F. Bough, West Point, mayor of East Liverpool from 1898 to 1900, president of the organization, and Kenneth Fife, Lisbon, secretary-treasurer.

Dr. George P. Ikirt of East Liverpool, a former pupil and teacher at the school, will be the honor guest. Music will be rendered by the orchestra of the Lisbon Presbyterian church. Other features will be addresses, old time visiting, sports and old fashioned basket dinner.

Among the former pupils and teachers at this school was Judge John Reid, who was the first probate judge of Columbiana county under the constitution adopted in 1851. In the Pleasant Hill and Lisbon High school, Judge Reid educated his large family. Three of his children, Elizabeth, Martha and Anna, became school teachers.

Another pupil was Captain James Hamilton Mills, who distinguished himself as a warrior in the desperate conflict at Old Round Top, near Gettysburg, during the Civil war. At the close of the war, Captain Mills went west and established a newspaper known as 'The New Northwest" at Deer Lodge, Montana. He was at one time territorial secretary of Montana and later a candidate for governor of the state. He died at Deer Lodge in 1904 at the age of 67.

Dr. George P. Ikirt, teacher in 1871-72, served for one term in congress, defeating William McKinley, who later became president. Dr. Ikirt has practiced medicine in East Liverpool for nearly 50 years.

Among other pupils and teachers were Prof. George J. Luckey, for many years member of the high school faculty at Athens, Ohio; Professor Thomas Brown, teacher and a prominent abolitionist; Judge H. D. Travis, teacher, Nebraska jurist; Rev. Elmer E. Fife, D. D., pupil and teacher, missionary in India for many years; Dr. Kent K. Hastings and Dr. Geo. A. Spencer teachers, Cleveland; Dr. W. N. Gilmore, pupil, East Liverpool physician; George A. Hasson, teacher, business man and former mayor of Chester, W. Va.; John A. Bough, pupil, pioneer locomotive engineer, now retired at Sidney, Australia; Jefferson Livingston, pupil, Cincinnati and New York millionaire; Prof. Lloyd B. Fife, pupil, East Liverpool school teacher; Charles F. Bough, West Point, first Prohibition mayor of East Liverpool.

The best approach to the school is from the Y. & O. car stop and Lincoln highway at Applegate's stop, one mile west of West Point. Signs will be erected for the accommodation of reunion visitors. Free transportation from the car stop will be provided for those without conveyance.

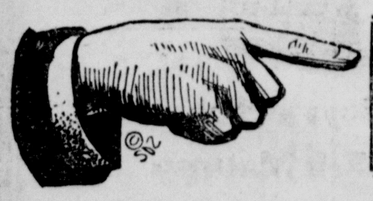
Change of Billing System

We have changed our billing system to meet new conditions brought about by the continual growth in the number of our electric customers. Our method of handling accounts in the past has been to mail all bills on the last day of the month, having the same become due on the 10th. of each month. Commencing with the bills for the month of September, we have installed a continuous billing system under which we will mail a certain number of bills each day, which bills should be paid within ten days from date of mailing.

Watch Payment Date

We would call your attention to the new form of bill shown about which will be used in the future, especially to that portion which reads:



If not paid on or before

will be added

In this space will be shown each month, the date with which your bill should be paid in order to avoid the payment of the Delayed Payment Charge due after the ten day period.

Better Service

This change in the method of handling your account has been done only after due consideration and by elimination of certain peaks in our work we firmly believe that you will find we will be enabled to not only handle your monthly bill and payment of same in more efficient manner, but also to give you better service according to your need in other respects.

No Waiting at Our Cashier Windows

We believe that all customers who make it a practice of paying their bills at our office will particularly agree with us, when we can announce that under the new system we will be able to render more efficient service at our cashier windows, eliminating the necessity of our customers having to wait in line in our office to pay their bill.

And, to their credit be it said, there is no so-called descriptive battle music in the score. Seats go on sale Tuesday.

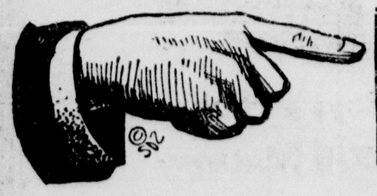
Change of Billing System

We have changed our billing system to meet new conditions brought about by the continual growth in the number of our electric customers. Our method of handling accounts in the past has been to mail all bills on the last day of the month, having the same become due on the 10th. of each month. Commencing with the bills for the month of September, we have installed a continuous billing system under which we will mail a certain number of bills each day, which bills should be paid within ten days from date of mailing.

Watch Payment Date

We would call your attention to the new form of bill shown about which will be used in the future, especially to that portion which reads:



If not paid on or before

will be added

In this space will be shown each month, the date with which your bill should be paid in order to avoid the payment of the Delayed Payment Charge due after the ten day period.

Better Service

This change in the method of handling your account has been done only after due consideration and by elimination of certain peaks in our work we firmly believe that you will find we will be enabled to not only handle your monthly bill and payment of same in more efficient manner, but also to give you better service according to your need in other respects.

No Waiting at Our Cashier Windows

We believe that all customers who make it a practice of paying their bills at our office will particularly agree with us, when we can announce that under the new system we will be able to render more efficient service at our cashier windows, eliminating the necessity of our customers having to wait in line in our office to pay their bill.

Today's Offer-- Stomach Agony Goes

or Money Back, says Jesse D. Holloway.

And still there are stubborn people right in this part of the country who won't accept this offer, but continue to suffer from gas on stomach, belching or sour food, stomach pains, foul breath, dizziness, biliousness and headaches, just because—just because—that's all, there is no other reason.

Dare's Mentha Pepsin will stop dyspeptic agony in five minutes; will conquer obstinate cases of indigestion, and turn the old stomach into a new one in a few weeks.

If you want quick and lasting relief get a bottle to-day. It is dispensed by Jesse D. Holloway and druggists everywhere.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1926.

Inter-City Football Game

With the opening of the football season in East Liverpool and Wellsville scheduled on Sept. 25 and Oct. 2, respectively, the question of resumption of athletic relations between the inter-city high schools, severed in 1923, is uppermost in the minds of lovers of the gridiron sport.

As a result of the controversy which developed here on the eve of the Thanksgiving game four years ago, the battle was cancelled and the two schools, despite the cost in loss of receipts, have gone separate ways in the interim.

Schedule makers, probably in the belief that petty differences should be forgotten, have left the Thanksgiving date open this year, and seemingly await action of the boards of education. But so far no move has been made toward a declaration of peace.

The consensus of opinion among the football fans of the two cities—and it is a safe wager the same thought is in the minds of the students—is that the hatchet should be buried, for unbiased sport followers agree that both schools are paying a heavy penalty for the four-year-old dispute.

Irrespective of the visiting attraction on Turkey Day, neither the East Liverpool nor Wellsville game will draw a crowd comparable with the attendance that is a foregone conclusion in the event the inter-city schools clash for football honors.

Surely it is high time for the school authorities and coaches to get down to brass tacks, mediate differences and arrange for an East Liverpool-Wellsville battle this fall.

How about it, Wellsville and East Liverpool?

Human Stock Show

Why shouldn't there be recognized standards of excellence for human stock as well as for domestic animals? Why not prizes for the best specimens of manhood and womanhood as well as for cattle, hogs and sheep?

Since Kansas started asking such questions seven years ago, and incorporating a human stock show in her state fair at Topeka, the idea has spread. There is regular provision made now for the registration of human beings, as regards their heredity, intelligence and health, under the auspices of the American Eugenic society, not only in Kansas but at the state fairs of Oklahoma, Arkansas, Texas, Florida, Massachusetts and Michigan, and about a dozen other states are expected to have similar departments at their fairs this year.

The Topeka fair, which opened Monday and continues until Sunday, attracts special attention as usual to its human exhibits. Instead of cash prizes and ribbons, bronze plaques are given. The various classes include single adults of 18 years or over, pairs of engaged couples, childless married couples, couples with one child, "average families" with two to four children and large families with five or more children. Every individual passing the critical examination receives a health certificate, and the best representatives of the various classes are given, along with their trophies, complete records of their pedigrees and examinations.

This is a small enterprise so far, but an interesting one and a rapidly growing one. Much may be heard from it hereafter.

Natural Beauty

One of the judges of the Atlantic City beauty contest says, with special reference to the latest winner:

"American ideals of beauty are being lifted to a new standard. The plucked eyebrow, cosmetics and artificial curls are passing, and women are now held to be beautiful when they remain natural and true to their own types instead of trying to imitate some one else's."

Let us hope so. Yet faith in such a change comes hard, after all this mania for artificiality that has swept the country and the world in these last years, and after what has been seen of prize beauties.

It will be a superhuman, and almost super-Olympian, achievement if this particular feminine beauty, now praised for her "naturalness," remains unspoiled for as much as a year. And as for girls "remaining true to their own types," even if the winner succeeds in doing that, what of all the millions who will forget their own types and forsake their natural charms in imitation of the winner, just because she is the winner?

Still, why expect any reasonableness in this matter of beauty? What women, particularly young women, will do to themselves to magnify or alter or conceal the charms God has given them is something that no man can ever understand.

Charleston In Berlin

Charleston dancers are having a high old time in Berlin. The celebrated American pastime has made such a hit with the Germans that the upper floor of a big tower built by the German Radio corporation has been conseciated to it. There the devotees will dance 360 feet above the earth.

The public authorities objected at first, being afraid that the dancers would "endanger the equilibrium of the structure," or in plain English, bust the tower, which was a natural fear. The dance dates back to the Charleston earthquake. Genuine Charlestoners are likely to bust 'most anything.

Women should tell their ages, says the president of the National League of Women Voters. Well, why not? Don't they tell nearly everything else?

The Terrible Tempered Mr. Bang— By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 16. — Around every stage door exit at night clots a group of curious. They want a fleeting glimpse of players without make-up and the dazzle of lights. It is usually a disiliusioning process. The glitter is gone.

The chorus girls who spun in tinseled iridescence appear no different from the thousands of tired workers who erupt from factory lofts at dusk. The Adonis in white flannels who sang to the moon may drift out to the pavement in sweater and cap.

While they are not unconscious of admiring glances, most of them are not so interested in adulations as in food. The big meal of the day is usually after the play. The stars, however, as a rule pause long enough in dressing rooms to make a lone exit.

Then scurry across the sidewalk to their car and bowl away—tra-la—as though totally unaware of curious glances. The musical shows exploiting girls draw the heaviest crowd, next to the personal appearance of a noted movie star.

The stage door John in evening dress with a boquet of orchids waiting to press attention upon some beauty is largely a creation of comic papers. And the weekly batch of mash-notes received by a footlight favorite is a corresponding myth.

One of the most alluring of musical comedy stars—then unattached—admits receiving about twenty mash notes during a year's run and most of these were from young men she had met at various gatherings she attended.

No other actress has been the object of such stage door curiosity as Maud Adams. Her managers had emphasized her aloofness and she aided by never appearing in public. As a result, she rarely left by a stage door but went out the front of the house.

There was excitement in an office building across the way just now. The street suddenly filled. A fire wagon clattered up. Also an ambulance. A window cleaner, supported by straps, had shut the windows on the 9th. floor and locked himself out. Those inside could not open the window, so he screeched for help. A fireman broke the glass, he disappeared inside and the crowd moved sheepishly away.

It is somewhat like the crowd that watches a safe hoisting. When the safe is landed safely the crowd moves on a trifle disappointed. If a safe drops most of us want to be there.

There is no record of Wall Street reporters making a fortune from some sound tip. As a rule they do not play the market. One reporter knew from an extremely authoritative source that General Motors was due for a spectacular rise. He did not make a penny out of the tip.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Political Upsets.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 16.—Political upsets continue to feature the pre-election campaign of 1926 and party leaders are more than ever in a state of worry and wonder as to what will happen when the voters of the nation go to the polls in November and as to what all that is happining portends for 1928 when the Presidency will be at stake. Not in thirty years, the old-timers say, has a single campaign brought forth so many surprises, and they are at a loss to explain the political trend that has set in—if, indeed, it is a political trend and not merely a series of remarkable coincidences.

Most of the important upsets have occurred among Republicans, the latest being the defeat for renomination of United States Senator Irvin L. Lenroot, of Wisconsin. This leader among the stalwarts of the G. O. P. was routed by a progressive, Gov. John J. Blaine.

A few months ago no one among those who assume to know what is going on in politics had any dubt that Senatr Lenroot would be named as the candidate to succeed himself. He had maintained his position in the politics of his State in the face of all the opposition that LaFollette, the elder, could give him, and with the long-time leader of the progressives and recalcitrants in the party dead and gone it was looked upon as certain that Lenroot's star was in the ascendancy. In fact, some of his friends were looking forward to making him a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination in 1928, following his renomination and re-election to the Senate this year.

But Lenroot seems to have found in "Young Bob" LaFollette an adversary even more formidable than the elder LaFollette. At any rate, while Governor Blaine was the candidate, LaFollette led the fight, and was the central figure of the contest against Lenroot, and even those who are reluctant to give him the credit for the victory are forced to admit that LaFollette has strengthened himself tremendously in Wisconsin. His nomination and election to succeed his father are no longer to be explained as a matter to sentiment, and his leadership must be conceded until someone arises who can wrest it from him in an upstanding, unequivocal fight.

Other Factors In The Contest.

There were, of course, other factors in the Lenroot-Blaine contest that may have had much to do with the result. Blaine's record and personal strength and popularity favored him, although it may be said that Lenroot had the same things in his favor. Then there was the prohibition issue. Blaine was a wet in his stand on that question as a candidate could be and not drown, whereas Lenroot was charged with attempting to straddle the issue. Wisconsin is a wet State, it will now be conceded. Just how much the prohibition question influenced the result of the primary can not be determined, obviously, but being the kind of a wet he was did help Blaine.

To offset this, however, was the influence of the Coolidge administration that was thrown to Lenroot. That must have been a big asset to the Senator. Those who have gone through similar fights do not belittle the power of a national administration when it is thrown to a candidate for the Senate, and the fact stands that Lenroot could not win even with the backing of President Coolidge.

Lenroot's hopes for the Presidency, if he really had any, have gone glimmering. If his defeat for renomination were not enough to eliminate him, the spirit in which he has taken it would have made a complete job of it, for he has announced that he will not support his successful opponent. "I shall not support Gov Blaine," he said in his post-primary statement. "I could not do so with any self-respect."

Men who aspire to be candidates for President do not start out by announcing their intention of bolting their party ticket.

Lenroot's defeat is the fourth big upset in the political fortunes of Republican Senate leaders. Pepper, of Pennsylvania, was the first to lose out as a candidate to succeed himself, and then McKinley, of Illinois, and Cummins, of Iowa, fell by the wayside. Explanations as to the real reasons for each of these upsets may vary, but in all of them one thing is to be observed—the power and prestige of long and distinguished service in the Senate did not suffice to win renomination in ths year of the unexpected in politics, 1926. The significance of this invites and is receiving much speculaton and comment.

Some observers say it presages the crumbling of the power of the Senate and Senators in national politics and affairs. Others go farther and say that seniority in either branch of Congress will shortly become wholly unimportant and that changes in the personnel of both bodies will soon be kaleidoscopic, with the result that able men will no longer find any incentive to embark upon a career in the Senate or House. In Chicago a vaudeville comedian married a lady who was likewise connected with the profession. EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1926.

Inter-City Football Game

With the opening of the football season in East Liverpool and Wellsville scheduled on Sept. 25 and Oct. 2, respectively, the question of resumption of athletic relations between the inter-city high schools, severed in 1923, is uppermost in the minds of lovers of the gridiron sport.

As a result of the controversy which developed here on the eve of the Thanksgiving game four years ago, the battle was cancelled and the two schools, despite the cost in loss of receipts, have gone separate ways in the interim.

Schedule makers, probably in the belief that petty differences should be forgotten, have left the Thanksgiving date open this year, and seemingly await action of the boards of education. But so far no move has been made toward a declaration of peace.

The consensus of opinion among the football fans of the two cities—and it is a safe wager the same thought is in the minds of the students—is that the hatchet should be buried, for unbiased sport followers agree that both schools are paying a heavy penalty for the four-year-old dispute.

Irrespective of the visiting attraction on Turkey Day, neither the East Liverpool nor Wellsville game will draw a crowd comparable with the attendance that is a foregone conclusion in the event the inter-city schools clash for football honors.

Surely it is high time for the school authorities and coaches to get down to brass tacks, mediate differences and arrange for an East Liverpool-Wellsville battle this fall.

How about it, Wellsville and East Liverpool?

Human Stock Show

Why shouldn't there be recognized standards of excellence for human stock as well as for domestic animals? Why not prizes for the best specimens of manhood and womanhood as well as for cattle, hogs and sheep?

Since Kansas started asking such questions seven years ago, and incorporating a human stock show in her state fair at Topeka, the idea has spread. There is regular provision made now for the registration of human beings, as regards their heredity, intelligence and health, under the auspices of the American Eugenic society, not only in Kansas but at the state fairs of Oklahoma, Arkansas, Texas, Florida, Massachusetts and Michigan, and about a dozen other states are expected to have similar departments at their fairs this year.

The Topeka fair, which opened Monday and continues until Sunday, attracts special attention as usual to its human exhibits. Instead of cash prizes and ribbons, bronze plaques are given. The various classes include single adults of 18 years or over, pairs of engaged couples, childless married couples, couples with one child, "average families" with two to four children and large families with five or more children. Every individual passing the critical examination receives a health certificate, and the best representatives of the various classes are given, along with their trophies, complete records of their pedigrees and examinations.

This is a small enterprise so far, but an interesting one and a rapidly growing one. Much may be heard from it hereafter.

Natural Beauty

One of the judges of the Atlantic City beauty contest says, with special reference to the latest winner:

"American ideals of beauty are being lifted to a new standard. The plucked eyebrow, cosmetics and artificial curls are passing, and women are now held to be beautiful when they remain natural and true to their own types instead of trying to imitate some one else's."

Let us hope so. Yet faith in such a change comes hard, after all this mania for artificiality that has swept the country and the world in these last years, and after what has been seen of prize beauties.

It will be a superhuman, and almost super-Olympian, achievement if this particular feminine beauty, now praised for her "naturalness," remains unspoiled for as much as a year. And as for girls "remaining true to their own types," even if the winner succeeds in doing that, what of all the millions who will forget their own types and forsake their natural charms in imitation of the winner, just because she is the winner?

Still, why expect any reasonableness in this matter of beauty? What women, particularly young women, will do to themselves to magnify or alter or conceal the charms God has given them is something that no man can ever understand.

Charleston In Berlin

Charleston dancers are having a high old time in Berlin. The celebrated American pastime has made such a hit with the Germans that the upper floor of a big tower built by the German Radio corporation has been conseciated to it. There the devotees will dance 360 feet above the earth.

The public authorities objected at first, being afraid that the dancers would "endanger the equilibrium of the structure," or in plain English, bust the tower, which was a natural fear. The dance dates back to the Charleston earthquake. Genuine Charlestoners are likely to bust 'most anything.

Women should tell their ages, says the president of the National League of Women Voters. Well, why not? Don't they tell nearly everything else?

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 16. — Around every stage door exit at night clots a group of curious. They want a fleeting glimpse of players without make-up and the dazzle of lights. It is usually a disilusioning process. The glitter is gone.

The chorus girls who spun in tinseled iridescence appear no different from the thousands of tired workers who erupt from factory lofts at dusk. The Adonis in white flannels who sang to the moon may drift out to the pavement in sweater and cap.

While they are not unconscious of admiring glances, most of them are not so interested in adulations as in food. The big meal of the day is usually after the play. The stars, however, as a rule pause long enough in dressing rooms to make a lone exit.

Then scurry across the sidewalk to their car and bowl away—tra-la—as though totally unaware of curious glances. The musical shows exploiting girls draw the heaviest crowd, next to the personal appearance of a noted movie star.

The stage door John in evening dress with a boquet of orchids waiting to press attention upon some beauty is largely a creation of comic papers. And the weekly batch of mash-notes received by a footlight favorite is a corresponding myth.

One of the most alluring of musical comedy stars—then unattached—admits receiving about twenty mash notes during a year's run and most of these were from young men she had met at various gatherings she attended.

No other actress has been the object of such stage door curiosity as Maud Adams. Her managers had emphasized her aloofness and she aided by never appearing in public. As a result, she rarely left by a stage door but went out the front of the house.

There was excitement in an office building across the way just now. The street suddenly filled. A fire wagon clattered up. Also an ambulance. A window cleaner, supported by straps, had shut the windows on the 9th. floor and locked himself out. Those inside could not open the window, so he screeched for help. A fireman broke the glass, he disappeared inside and the crowd moved sheepishly away.

It is somewhat like the crowd that watches a safe hoisting. When the safe is landed safely the crowd moves on a trifle disappointed. If a safe drops most of us want to be there.

The stunt men who teeter dangerously on dizzy cornices of skyscrapers while news reels crank furiously are, I am told, men who usually began careers as housepainters. On ladders and scaffolding they learned certain laws of leverage and equilibrium which inspires them to later breath-taking feats.

LITTLE LOVE GOD KEEPS CAPITAL POLICEWOMEN IN CONSTANT DEMAND

WASHINGTON.—Either the little god, Eros, has a special spell over Washington's policewomen's bureau, or else Mrs. Mina C. Van Winkle, chief of the bureau, has a "picker's eye" that would put to shame Flo Zeigfeld, himself.

However that may be, the fact remains that marriages keep the bureau constantly facing a personnel turnover. With uncanny regularity, prominent lawyers, doctors, educators and engineers pop up from nowhere at all with theories that policewomen make good wives.

So far, eleven young women who came to the bureau as misses have left its ranks as Mrs.' .. Starting out to be cops, they got copped themselves.

What romance may cost her in the loss of trained personnel in the future, Mrs. Van Winkle hesitates to say. For herself, however, she says she will remain a widow for the rest of her life. And as far as Sergeant Rhoda Milliken, slim bobbed-haired chief assistant, is concerned, she is never going to be a widow, no matter how long she lives. Her reason is simple—she never intends to marry.

Of the 21 policewomen now on the force, eight are married or have been married. That leave 13 for Mrs. Van Winkle to worry about. And 13, she says, is an unlucky number.

One of the former members of the bureau, Sarah Tilghman, is now Mrs. George Hughes, of Dallas, Texas. She is practicing law there with her husband under the firm name of Hughes and Hughes. They were married one day while the court was taking luncheon recess. Meeting her fiancee in the corridors of the buildin, Hughes marched off with her and married.

Marian Bridwell became Mrs. F. Robertson Williams, of San Francisco. She took a vacation in California. Instead of returning, she sent back a wedding announcement.

Irma Wann is now Mrs. Peter Buwaldi, of Pasadena, California. Her husband is head of the school of technology there. The pictures of their two fines babies now grace the living quarters of the policewomen's bureau here.

If Tired, Worn-Out, and Run-Down Regain Vigor Thru Gland Treatment

Gland secretions are called hormones—mysterious messengers which Science has discovered exert a remarkable influence on health, strength and vitality.

When the glands function normally, they supply these vitalizing hormones (or secretions) which are essential to physical well-being. And when the glands fail to function, health fails.

Now, glandular treatment, which is indorsed by eminent scientists and physicians of this country and Europe, is being used by thousands of men and women to help overcome a weakened, worn-out, run-down, exhausted condition and to regain the strength, vigor and vitality that are the natural benefits resulting from a normal glandular system.

Glandogen, the new scientific gland tonic, provides a simple method of taking glandular treatment. Glandogen is prepared in convenient tablet form, for both men and women. Accept no substitutes, insist on genuine Glandogen, the original gland tonic.

LITTLE LOVE GOD KEEPS CAPITAL POLICEWOMEN IN CONSTANT DEMAND

WASHINGTON.—Either the little love god, Eros, has a special spell over Washington's policewomen's bureau, or else Mrs. Mina C. Van Winkle, chief of the bureau, has a "pick-er's eye" that would put to shame Flo Ziegfeld, himself.

However that may be, the fact remains that marriages keep the bureau constantly facing a personnel turnover. With uncanny regularity, prominent lawyers, doctors, educators and engineers pop up from nowhere at all with theories that policewomen make good wives.

So far, eleven young women who came to the bureau as misses have left its ranks as Mrs.' .. Starting out to be cops, they got copped themselves.

What romance may cost her in the loss of trained personnel in the future, Mrs. Van Winkle hesitates to say. For herself, however, she says she will remain a widow for the rest of her life. And as far as Sergeant Rhoda Milliken, slim bobbed-haired chief assistant, is concerned, she is never going to be a widow, no matter how long she lives. Her reason is simple—she never intends to marry.

Of the 21 policewomen now on the force, eight are married or have been married. That leave 13 for Mrs. Van Winkle to worry about. And 13, she says, is an unlucky number.

One of the former members of the bureau, Sarah Tilghman, is now Mrs. George Hughes, of Dallas, Texas. She is practicing law there with her husband under the firm name of Hughes and Hughes. They were married one day while the court was taking luncheon recess. Meeting her fiancee in the corridors of the buildin, Hughes marched off with her and married.

Marian Bridwell became Mrs. F. Robertson Williams, of San Francisco. She took a vacation in California. Instead of returning, she sent back a wedding announcement.

Irma Wann is now Mrs. Peter Buwaldi, of Pasadena, California. Her husband is head of the school of technology there. The pictures of their two fines babies now grace the living quarters of the policewomen's bureau here.

If Tired, Worn-Out, and Run-Down Regain Vigor Thru Gland Treatment

Gland secretions are called hormones—mysterious messengers which Science has discovered exert a remarkable influence on health, strength and vitality.

When the glands function normally, they supply these vitalizing hormones (or secretions) which are essential to physical well-being. And when the glands fail to function, health fails.

Now, glandular treatment, which is indorsed by eminent scientists and physicians of this country and Europe, is being used by thousands of men and women to help overcome a weakened, worn-out, run-down, exhausted condition and to regain the strength, vigor and vitality that are the natural benefits resulting from a normal glandular system.

Glandogen, the new scientific gland tonic, provides a simple method of taking glandular treatment. Glandogen is prepared in convenient tablet form, for both men and women. Accept no substitutes, insist on genuine Glandogen, the original gland tonic.

Mathews' Cut Rate Store will supply you.

How To Reduce Varicose Veins

Rub Gently and Upward Toward the Heart as Blood in Veins Flows That Way.

Many people have become despondent because they have been led to believe that there is no remedy that will reduce swollen veins and bunches.

If you will get a two-ounce original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil (full strength) at any first class drug store and apply it night and morning as directed you will quickly notice an improvement which will continue until the veins and bunches are reduced to normal.

Moone's Emerald Oil is a harmless, yet most powerful germicide and two ounces last a very long time. Indeed, so powerful is Emerald Oil that old chronic cases of Piles are often entirely absorbed and anyone who is disappointed with its use can have their money refunded. Mathews Medicine Store, J. D. Holloway sells lots of it.

TROLLEY WRECK INVESTIGATED

W. M. Packard, of Columbus, inspector for the state utilities commission, yesterday completed an investigation of interurban passenger car-work train collision on the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company's line at King's crossing, near Steubenville, in which one man was killed and 18 other persons injured.

The state investigator visited the scene of the crash, inspected the wrecked passenger car, which was removed to the East Liverpool car barn following the smash-up, had blue prints made of the point of the collision and questioned trainmen.

Packard gave no hint as to his possible findings which will be reported to the state commission and later communicated to traction company officials.

A report fixing responsibility for the accident is expected within the next week.

GLITTER

CHAPTER X.

The prom was madder now. It seemed to rush and to lurch and to romp. It was hectic, hysterical. . . . Searchlights marched over it, dyeing faces purple and red and ghastly green, catching the beads and sequins on the dresses and making momentary diamonds of them. The music panted. The musicians writhed and gyrated and sang and put on funny hats and beamed at all the prettiest of the girls. Innumerable feet stamped the last two notes of every tune they played. Collars were wilted, coiffures a little rumpled now. The stag-line was no longer a line, but a disbanded force roaming at large, grabbing right and left. There was intoxication. And there was another, subtler undertone . . . desirous eyes, fleet touch of mouths in shadowy corners. . . . The chaperones had almost all gone home to bed, after the immemorial manner of chaperones when they begin to be needed.

For a time Jock stood by himself, staring at the dancers, thinking. Molly had danced off with some one, forgetting him. He was glad, glad. What a relief! It was all over, then. Ended as affairs of the heart should properly end, by the decree of the lady in the case. He rather reveled in her final display of what he termed "backbone." For that he liked her better than for all the tears and kisses and all the meek devotion that had preceded it. Now if only she didn't repent in the morning and spoil it all—she wouldn't, though. She was past that at last. Funny how the thing had happened! An accident, succeeding where all his calculated hints had failed. He hadn't set out deliberately to irritate her when he picked up the magazine.

Boy, what a dizzy mob this was! Half of them tight. Plenty of headaches abroad in the land tomorrow. Prohibition . . . forbidden jam for children to smear themselves with. Funny how liquor did different things to different people. Some could control their legs but not their tongues, and vice versa. Girls . . . some stupid, blinking like sun-dazed owls, some hilarious, giggling foolishly at nothing. Girls who sprang up when the music started and shook their shoulders and rolled their eyes and swayed, with their elbows bent and palms outward, to its rhythm. Unofficial performers, aping their sisters of the chorus and the cabaret. You could tell the ones who weren't drinking. Faint lines of distaste and fatigue sketched across their foreheads. . . . Winky Winters over there. With a terrible edge. Hair all ruffled, and shoulder bare where she'd broken a strap, and didn't give a hoot. All she could do to get around. . . .

Jock never acknowledged a notion so old-fashioned, but he really intensely disliked to see girls drink. Not for any ethical reason; merely because it offended his sense of the fitness of things. Raw poison down soft white throats . . . reek of stale whisky on lips that should be sweet for kissing. . . . Even when he handed over his flask, as he was often called upon to do, and stood by while some pink-and-white maiden partook generously of its contents, a voice inside him cried, "No!" wildly, over and over. The thing seemed to him so inappropriate that it was almost sacrilege . . . like stumbling on a cuspidor in a dainty silken boudoir. . . .

Pondering this now, he felt a creeping nausea. So many girls drunk! Revolting, unlovely. Girls were put on earth for men to worship, and look up to, and adore. And you couldn't, in this generation. Idols with clay feet. Even when you shut your eyes you could still see them, moving unsteadily, mouthing the phrases of bar room loafers . . . "Set 'em up!" . . . "Awful thirst tonight!" . . . "Wet my whistle." You could fancy them being hideously sick, later.

Jock shook himself. "Snap out of it," he muttered savagely. "Don't be a doggone prude! Those ideas went out with hoopskirts. I drink, don't I? Why shouldn't they?"

He perceived Dopey Lane, teetering in a doorway, and he hastened toward him. "Got any of that gin left?"

Dopey mumbled something unintelligible but affirmative, and together they retired to the corridor. Jock drank deep. Ah-h, this was the way! This was the way not to mind what you saw—not to see anything you would mind. Conviviality and the spirit of the occasion and death to uncomfortable thoughts, in a few swallows of this sharp white fluid. . . .

He handed the bottle back.

"Keep," said Dopey thickly. "May need. I—Ivadnuf."

Jock spent the ensuing hours in a nebulous haze, warm and vague and very pleasant. Afterward he could recall only three things at all clearly: that Molly refused to dance with him; that he gave the orchestra a twenty-dollar bill to play Cry Baby just once more; and that he took a girl he didn't know outdoors for air, and walked her around and around the tennis courts, and was amused rather than disgusted when she gasped, "I can't help it!"—and didn't.

XI.

Prom broke up the next morning.

Molly went home still violently enraged at Jock, and rather proud of herself for being enraged. She would even boast about it a little to her friends. "Believe me, I told him where to get off!" And in years to come she would list him among the suitors who had battered the door to her heart in vain. Women delude themselves so, for their greater conceit and peace of mind.

Cecily went home full of strong resolve, and happy because Jock had sought her out to say goodbye at the station.

Jock forgot Molly as soon as she was away from his sight. A closed book, Molly. A book that had started well, and ended in a fashion that contented him, but proved too unbearably dull in the interim ever to be opened again. . . . Of Cecily he thought in occasional fugitive moments, during lectures, or when he was alone in his room. He wondered if his advice would be heeded, and if he had given her anything that would prove at all helpful. He very sincerely hoped that he had, but he rather doubted it now. Reminiscences of himself in the role of mentor struck him as humorous. He conjured up a vision of an inscription reading, "'Things a Young Girl Should Know,' by Jock Hamill," and chuckled greatly over it. "I had nerve! What do I know about it, for cat's sake? Why didn't I send her to some other girl to learn her stuff?" . . . He did not realize that no girl living could have made the impression on Cecily's mind that he had made.

After the first few days, he quite forgot her, also.

As a rule we are not inclined to brag about MARATHON gasoline, we much prefer letting it speak for itself but there are exceptions to all rules and we are making an exception to our rule in this advertisement. You were told by a local competitor last week about a test made on various gasolines for a contracting concern and how his particular gas won all prizes hands down.

* * * * * * * * * * * * * * *

We can tell of ont only one single test but of dozens, for instance we'll be very glad to tell about the two local Doctors who made a test with MARATHON in a new Hudson Coach. We'll gladly tell you they were and of the astounding mileage they made.

* * * * * * * * * * * * * * *

And we'll be glad to show you a letter of an out of town man written to his East Liverpool friend about our products. He could not buy them where he lived so he asked his friend to order it sent him in drum lots.

Perhaps you don't want to go to so much bother, in that case just ask the driver of the River Boad Rus what kind of gas he uses. Ask him how long they have been using MARATHON and why they started.

* * * * * * * * * * * * * * *

And finally, if you want to test it yourself and forget the EXPERTS, let us drain your present gasoline and fill your tank with MARATHON and then watch your speedometer. That's the greatest test in the world Will you try it

TROLLEY WRECK INVESTIGATED

W. M. Packard, of Columbus, inspector for the state utilities commission, yesterday completed an investigation of interurban passenger car-work train collision on the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company's line at King's crossing, near Steubenville, in which one man was killed and 18 other persons injured.

The state investigator visited the scene of the crash, inspected the wrecked passenger car, which was removed to the East Liverpool car barn following the smash-up, had blue prints made of the point of the collision and questioned trainmen.

Packard gave no hint as to his possible findings which will be reported to the state commission and later communicated to traction company officials.

A report fixing responsibility for the accident is expected within the next week.

Jail One Murder Suspect As Posse Traps His Chum

Elkton, Md., Authorities Believe They Have Masked Men Who Killed Chester, Pa., Youth and Attacked Girl Companions.

ELKTON, Md., Sept. 16.—With one negro in jail here today and another surrounded by a posse of farmers and authorities in a cornfield in Cecil county, about 16 miles from here, police believe they have the two masked men who killed Walter "Bud" Harden, of Chester, Pa., and attacked two girl companions, Florence Scott, 14, and Anna Klemsky, 17, last Friday near Chester.

Wilson Biddle, 27, held in jail, was captured when detectives followed an automobile containing Biddle and Walter Webb, the other suspect, and the latter's wife. As the detectives in another car stopped the fugitive machine, Webb jumped out and fled into the cornfield nearby, where he is now surrounded and is expected to be captured shortly.

GLITTER

By Katharine Brush

CHAPTER X.

The prom was madder now. It seemed to rush and to lurch and to romp. It was hectic, hysterical. . . . Searchlights marched over it, dyeing faces purple and red and ghastly green, catching the beads and sequins on the dresses and making momentary diamonds of them. The music panted. The musicians writhed and gyrated and sang and put on funny hats and beamed at all the prettiest of the girls. Innumerable feet stamped the last two notes of every tune they played. Collars were wilted, coiffures a little rumpled now. The stag-line was no longer a line, but a disbanded force roaming at large, grabbing right and left. There was intoxication. And there was another, subtler undertone . . . desirous eyes, fleet touch of mouths in shadowy corners. . . . The chaperones had almost all gone home to bed, after the immemorial manner of chaperones when they begin to be needed.

For a time Jock stood by himself, staring at the dancers, thinking. Molly had danced off with some one, forgetting him. He was glad, glad. What a relief! It was all over, then. Ended as affairs of the heart should properly end, by the decree of the lady in the case. He rather reveled in her final display of what he termed "backbone." For that he liked her better than for all the tears and kisses and all the meek devotion that had preceded it. Now if only she didn't repent in the morning and spoil it all—she wouldn't, though. She was past that at last. Funny how the thing had happened! An accident, succeeding where all his calculated hints had failed. He hadn't set out deliberately to irritate her when he picked up the magazine.

Boy, what a dizzy mob this was! Half of them tight. Plenty of headaches abroad in the land tomorrow. Prohibition . . . forbidden jam for children to smear themselves with. Funny how liquor did different things to different people. Some could control their legs but not their tongues, and vice versa. Girls . . . some stupid, blinking like sun-dazed owls, some hilarious, giggling foolishly at nothing. Girls who sprang up when the music started and shook their shoulders and rolled their eyes and swayed, with their elbows bent and palms outward, to its rhythm. Unofficial performers, aping their sisters of the chorus and the cabaret. You could tell the ones who weren't drinking. Faint lines of distaste and fatigue sketched across their foreheads. . . . Winky Winters over there. With a terrible edge. Hair all ruffled, and shoulder bare where she'd broken a strap, and didn't give a hoot. All she could do to get around. . . .

Jock never acknowledged a notion so old-fashioned, but he really intensely disliked to see girls drink. Not for any ethical reason; merely because it offended his sense of the fitness of things. Raw poison down soft white throats . . . reek of stale whisky on lips that should be sweet for kissing. . . . Even when he handed over his flask, as he was often called upon to do, and stood by while some pink-and-white maiden partook generously of its contents, a voice inside him cried, "No!" wildly, over and over. The thing seemed to him so inappropriate that it was almost sacrilege . . . like stumbling on a cuspidor in a dainty silken boudoir. . . .

Pondering this now, he felt a creeping nausea. So many girls drunk! Revolting, unlovely. Girls were put on earth for men to worship, and look up to, and adore. And you couldn't, in this generation. Idols with clay feet. Even when you shut your eyes you could still see them, moving unsteadily, mouthing the phrases of bar room loafers . . . "Set 'em up!" . . . "Awful thirst tonight!" . . . "Wet my whistle." You could fancy them being hideously sick, later.

Jock shook himself. "Snap out of it," he muttered savagely. "Don't be a doggone prude! Those ideas went out with hoopskirts. I drink, don't I? Why shouldn't they?"

He perceived Dopey Lane, teetering in a doorway, and he hastened toward him. "Got any of that gin left?"

Dopey mumbled something unintelligible but affirmative, and together they retired to the corridor. Jock drank deep. Ah-h, this was the way! This was the way not to mind what you saw—not to see anything you would mind. Conviviality and the spirit of the occasion and death to uncomfortable thoughts, in a few swallows of this sharp white fluid. . . .

He handed the bottle back.

"Keep," said Dopey thickly. "May need. I—lvadnuf."

Jock spent the ensuing hours in a nebulous haze, warm and vague and very pleasant. Afterward he could recall only three things at all clearly: that Molly refused to dance with him; that he gave the orchestra a twenty-dollar bill to play Cry Baby just once more; and that he took a girl he didn't know outdoors for air, and walked her around and around the tennis courts, and was amused rather than disgusted when she gasped, "I can't help it!"—and didn't.

XI.

Prom broke up the next morning. Molly went home still violently enraged at Jock, and rather proud of herself for being enraged. She would even boast about it a little to her friends. "Believe me, I told him where to get off!" And in years to come she would list him among the suitors who had battered the door to her heart in vain. Women delude themselves so, for their greater conceit and peace of mind.

Cecily went home full of strong resolve, and happy because Jock had sought her out to say goodbye at the station.

Jock forgot Molly as soon as she was away from his sight. A closed book, Molly. A book that had started well, and ended in a fashion that contented him, but proved too unbearably dull in the interim ever to be opened again. . . . Of Cecily he thought in occasional fugitive moments, during lectures, or when he was alone in his room. He wondered if his advice would be heeded, and if he had given her anything that would prove at all helpful. He very sincerely hoped that he had, but he rather doubted it now. Reminiscences of himself in the role of mentor struck him as humorous. He conjured up a vision of an inscription reading, "'Things a Young Girl Should Know,' by Jock Hamill," and chuckled greatly over it. "I had nerve! What do I know about it, for cat's sake? Why didn't I send her to some other girl to learn her stuff?" . . . He did not realize that no girl living could have made the impression on Cecily's mind that he had made.

After the first few days, he quite forgot her, also.

As a rule we are not inclined to brag about MARATHON gasoline, we much prefer letting it speak for itself but there are exceptions to all rules and we are making an exception to our rule in this advertisement. You were told by a local competitor last week about a test made on various gasolines for a contracting concern and how his particular gas won all prizes hands down.

* * * * * * * * * * * * * * *

We can tell of ont only one single test but of dozens, for instance we'll be very glad to tell about the two local Doctors who made a test with MARATHON in a new Hudson Coach. We'll gladly tell you they were and of the astounding mileage they made.

* * * * * * * * * * * * * * *

And we'll be glad to show you a letter of an out of town man written to his East Liverpool friend about our products. He could not buy them where he lived so he asked his friend to order it sent him in drum lots.

Perhaps you don't want to go to so much bother, in that case just ask the driver of the River Boad Rus what kind of gas he uses. Ask him how long they have been using MARATHON and why they started.

* * * * * * * * * * * * * * *

And finally, if you want to test it yourself and forget the EXPERTS, let us drain your present gasoline and fill your tank with MARATHON and then watch your speedometer. That's the greatest test in the world Will you try it

AGNES AYRES IN RUDY FILM

"Son of Sheik" Screen Offering at American.

After several years' separation since "The Sheik," Agnes Ayres and Rudolph Valentino are in love again,—but only for the movies. Miss Ayres terminated a screen vacation of 12 months when she appeared with Valentino before the camera in scenes for Rudy's new film, "The Son of the Sheif," which is being shown at the American theatre.

The screen lovers of other days appear once more in exact replicas of the picturesque costumes they wore in "The Sheik," which swept both to fame and stardom. The new film is a sequel to "The Sheik," being also an adaptation from an E. M. Hull novel. Many of the scenes in which Miss Ayres and Valentino appear together duplicate the former love-making in "The Sheik" scenes. They are what is technically known as "flash-backs."

Out of courtesy to United Artists Corporation and sentiment for a film which meant so much to her success, Miss Ayres was prompted to sign a contract. When it was decided that "The Son of the Sheik" should contain "flash-backs" to the old Sheik, Valentino felt the picture would be incomplete without Miss Ayres. So she graciously consented to enact the role, although it was not her intention to return to the screen until some time later in the year.

The original costumes worn by Miss Ayres and Valentino in "The Sheik" were re-created for the new picture and are worn again in "The Son of the Sheik" at the American theatre.

A single by pinch hitter Paschal with the bases full was the blow that scalped the Indians as the Yanks won the first game of the big series, 6 to 4. Uhle, who had trimmed the Yanks in five straight games, was knocked out of the box.

"ABIE'S IRISH ROSE" IS HERE

Anne Nichols' Comedy at Ceramic Tonight and Friday.

When the curtain goes up on the first act of "Abie's Irish Rose," which will be at the Ceramic theatre tonight and tomorrow night, Harry Marks Stewart playing the role of Isaac Cohen, gets a laugh before a line of the play is spoken.

Seated on a divan, Isaac Cohen is deeply engrossed in a comic supplement of one of the metropolitan journals. One loud laugh from Isaac and the audience follows suit.

Mr. Stewart's guffaw is not a product of sudden inspiration. It has been cultivated and cherished for just such an occasion, as his role provides him in the Anne Nichols' comedy. It is a great aid of the characterization, typical and apparently spontaneous in its effect upon the audience. It was during the Pittsburgh engagement that Mr. Stewart developed his laugh. He realized that the laugh meant a lot to Isaac all the way through the play. What was at first a chuckle became a guffaw and its amusing effect upon the audience was so responsive that he decided to cultivate it even more, so that the laugh of Cohen is now one of the features of "Abie's Irish Rose."

FIELD AGENTS MAKING SURVEY

Field men representing the state department of agriculture who have been working in this county during the last two months in an effort to destroy the harmful barberry bushes, have completed the survey in all townships except Franklin, Washington, Yellow Creek and Madison.

The work in Elkrun township will be finished within a few days, and early next week the work in Madison township will be ended.

It required about two or three weeks to cover a township according to the extent of the infestation.

Department experts urge the piling of salt or the pouring of kerosene around the base of the harmful barberry bush to kill it, or to grub all the roots and burn the plant.

The Japanese barberry is not harmful, and no effort is being made to eradicate this plant, attention being directed solely to the common barberry which spreads black stem rust.

MONTH SETTING RECORD FOR RAIN

Nearly double the normal amount of rain for September has fallen, according to Cooperative Weather Observer Lawrence H. Copeland, a member of the county fair board. The normal rainfall for September for many years past has been 2.30 inches, and so far this month the fall has been 4.20 inches.

"The ground is pretty well soaked," Mr. Copeland said yesterday. "It would have been a very happy solution to have had some of this rain a little earlier in the season, as much benefit to crops would have resulted. As the month is only half through, the rainfall for September this year may greatly exceed all former September records."

NO ACTION ON MOSBY PROTEST

"No One Has Been Asked to Pay Fees," Says Solicitor.

City Auditor Fred Eckfeld and City Treasurer Wilbert Dales, who yesterday were served with notices by J. R. Mosby, a taxpayer, in which the latter objected to the city paying counsel fees in the Fultz removal fight, have been advised to disregard the notices by Solicitor S. C. Luccock.

"Neither Mr. Mosby nor any other taxpayer has been asked yet to pay these counsel fees, and it will be time enough when that is done to consider the matter of protests," Luccock said today.

Mosby, in the notices to the city officials, indicated that if the municipality undertook the payment of special counsel in the case, those opposed to it would begin legal action to prevent it.

The solicitor indicated that no steps toward making appropriation for counsel fees had been taken by the city yet.

Injunction Halts New Highway Work Near Stanton Park

A temporary injunction halting work on the Stanton park section of the Ohio River road was granted in common pleas court late Tuesday by Judge Jay S. Paisley as a result of the filing of an action to prevent Contractor aHrry M. Bates from doing any work on the proposed improvement unless an adequate and safe detour is provided.

The suit is brought by a number of Steubenville and Toronto business firms and concerns and individuals doing business along the road and names both the contractor and State Highway Director George F. Schlesinger as defendants. The injunction halts work on the road until a hearing on the injunction is had.

The institution of court proceedings followed recent verbal protests against closing of the road from the Steubenville city limits to Kings without a detour that will stand up under traffic. Various suggestions have been offered but none followed and Contractor Harry M. Bates, the successful bidder, closed the road Monday.

LANDS PLANE IN PASTURE; COWS EAT WINGS TO GET BANANA OIL

WAUKEGAN, Ill.—Banana Oil!

The flavor is delicious and much to be desired to that of green grass, a herd of cattle decided, and as a result Les "Slim" Houck is out about one-half of a perfectly good airplane.

Les was carrying a passenger when the engine went on strike, so dodging a garage and a house Les brought his plane to land among the cattle in a pasture. He left with the intention of returning the next day to recover the plane.

The inevitable small boys who immediately gathered as the ship descended tell of the bovines' actions. First the cows licked the wings and finding the taste of the banana oil varnish a palate tickler they proceeded to crunch away at the wings until only shreds were left.

Les mourns his plane, while busily at work repairing it.

STUDEBAKER'S New Custom Sedans

Mechanically up-to-the-minute
—artistically ahead-of-the-times
—economically the cars of the hour

IT is great to be a pioneer and still retain your youth—to sponsor new style at no sacrifice of traditional standards—to set the pace in appearance and maintain it by performance.

This is what Studebaker has done in these new Custom Sedans which are sweeping the country. Somebody put their description in a phrase, "Studebaker plus"—the final achievement of performance plus the newest mode in motordom.

Engineering authorities have long acknowledged Studebaker's mechanical supremacy in its field. And now with added refinements the mighty Studebaker L-head motor is widening its margin of leadership.

Studebaker's Victory Over Vibration

Studebaker's early adoption of the L-head engine forecast the present-day trend. Now 70% of American manufacturers use this efficient, quiet type of engine. And, more significantly, the largest builders of other types have come to this principle for all the new cars introduced in recent years.

Studebaker spends $600,000 annually in fully machining every surface of its big crankshafts—a feature found only in the costliest cars.

To insure a smooth, vibrationless flow of power, Studebaker spends over $600,000 annually building balance into its big crankshafts—fully machining and dynamically balancing each and every one.

Only seven other American cars have a power rating greater than the Big Six and these all cost from $1500 to $8000 more. The Standard Six is the most powerful car of its size and weight, according to the ratings of the Society of Automotive Engineers.

Studebaker's Transcontinental Triumph

Recently the Studebaker Big Six Sheriff—a certified stock car—dashed from New York to San Francisco in 86 hours and 20 minutes, through the worst storm in 60 years.

It cut 16 hours and 25 minutes off the best previous automobile record and beat the best time of the crack Limiteds by over 6 hours!

It added another victory to the long list already held by Studebaker—Barcelona to Madrid, the Trans-Australian Run and many others.

Studebaker's Inherent Durability

Owners of 817 Studebakers report having driven their cars from 100,000 to 300,000 miles and still going strong. Thousands of Studebakers in the fleet-service of big industrial concerns are proving their remarkable low-cost and tremendous endurance.

Factory sales of Studebaker repair parts average yearly only $10 per car in operation—evidence of the fine materials used.

The no-draft ventilating windshield—an exclusive feature of Studebaker Custom Sedans—is conveniently controlled from the dash.

Studebaker's Advanced Engineering Practice

For the past two years, Studebaker has been balancing wheels and casings to insure smoothest riding. Moreover, the semi-elliptic springs fostered by Studebaker are now used by 92% of American car manufacturers. Studebaker cars have a long springbase, and spring leaves of the finest chrome vanadium steel. Replacements of springs on Studebaker cars are less than 1% per year of cars in service.

There are many other betterments in Studebaker design—an oil filter and air purifier effectually seal the engine against foreign matter. A waterproof ignition system insures faithful operation in rain-storms. Even the spark plugs wear rubber caps. And a force feed lubrication system gives perfect lubrication under all conditions.

Over $100 Worth of Extra Equipment At No Extra Cost

To its in-built qualities of performance, Studebaker has added the charm of custom treatment and the luxury of custom equipment. Low-swung, full-vision steel bodies in lustrous and durable duotone lacquers; interiors richly finished and appointed, with broadcloth or Chase mohair upholstery, broadlace trim and Butler finish hardware; and extra equipment worth more than $100.

Four-wheel brakes, disc wheels, nickle-plated bumpers, front and rear—and a patented ventilating windshield which insures perfect ventilation at all times but prevents direct drafts or a drop of rain from entering the car.

Digman Twirls Laughlin Into Lead Over Pennant Rivals

Fourth and Crucial Clash to be Fought At Newell Saturday

McCoy Star Holds Chester to Four Blows and Pounds Out Two Himself; Aufderheide's Fly in Last Inning Sends in Captain Finley With Run That Wins Contest.

RETURNING from the western wilds to plague his 1925 diamond comrades, Pitcher Digman, who twirled Laughlin to a 1926 first half pennant, mounted the hilltop in the third City Industrial League "baby world's series" contest yesterday at Smith Field and by holding Chester to four hits while bounding out two of the six drives his club made during the torrid seven-frame battle, defeated the Riley nine, 3 to 2.

The victory give the Laughlins the edge in the series and puts Sol McCoy and his lads within one game of the pennant. On the other hand, a Chester victory in Saturday's clash will even the standing.

The count was tied twice in yesterday's bame, 1 to 1 in the third and 2-2 in the sixth.

Aufderheide, understudying Crawford, who became ill in the sixth and had to retire to the bench, broke the 2-2 deadlock and won the game for Laughlin when, with Finley and Parsons on the bags and one out, he sent a high fly to Mike Cebula in center on which Finley scored.

Digman who had made the second hit of the game, a double, and scored the first run, led off by singling to middle, but was forced by Finley, Wilde to Heckathorne. The latter stole second. Parsons walked. Both moved to third and second, respectively, on a passed ball. Then came "Aufty's" sacrifice. Herbert went out, Wilde to Heckathorne.

Stoffel's Drive Fails.

The score was 3-2 against them as Chester faced Digman in the final frame, Cebula fanned. Darkness closed over the field and a storm rumbled up the valley. Fans rose to their feet, ready for a dash to the exists. Digman, on the hilltop, was going good. F. Marshall drove to Finley, who easily assisted to Babb. Only Stoffel, who had tripled and scored the first tying run for Chester, stood in the way of a Laughlin win.

Dust swept the field in clouds and twice the batter was forced to step aside momentarily.

In dashed Captain Finley and Bagman Herbert. Laughlin rooters howled. Chester devotees handed it back. Umpire Fleming was patient. The wind, subsiding momentarily, permitted the players to get set again. Stoffel connected and the ball took the direction of right field. Despite the dusk, Sayres grabbed it, turned and threw to Babb, completing the identical play that ended the first Laughlin victory in the initial 10-inning contest Saturday.

The score was 2 to 1 in Laughlin's favor at the outset of the second half of the sixth. C. Marshall walked, only to be forced by P. Cebula, Finley to Sayres. The Chester shortstop then stole second and reached third on Hunselman's bad peg to Finley from where he counted as Wilde went out, Finley to Babb, which play, duplicated, retired Potts who followed Wilde at bat.

Ashe Is Absent.

Pitcher Ashe, who had twirled both the other series contests for Laughlin, was absent, he having returned to his home. Digman, despite his injured wrist, thus had to work. His permitting but four hits and two passes while sharing with Parsons the swatting honors of his team with his double and single that enabled Laughlin to score the first and pave the way for the final and winning run of the contest indicated that his half season of rest had not seriously interfered with his hurling and playing capabilities.

Chester played with pitchers at second base and in middle field where Stoffel essayed to fill the role of L. McMath and M. Cebula that of Evans respectively. For the first half inning C. Marshall had to cover first as Heckathorne had not yet arrived and G. Cebula filled in during the interim in right field.

M. Cebula, though he failed to hit safely handled every thing that came his way in the garden. He made the most sensational fielding play of the game, a great run-back catch with his back to the crowd, of Digman's long fly in the second which prevented the opposing pitcher from having a perfect day at bat. Stoffel's triple in the second was the longest drive of the game. In the field he had no chances though Parsons' drive in the fifth came right at him, but took a side bound as he poised to grab it.

Evans Out of Game.

Evans, using crutches, sat on the bench as did M. Cebula in the initial contest on Saturday. With two torn ligaments Evans is doubtless out of the game for the series.

Despite the absence of L. McMath and Evans, the Chester outfit fought determinedly. But for three passed balls by Potts they might have won out.

The big back stop with his .444 batting average for the first two games failed to hit safely at all during the game, being retired thrice by infield assists before he reached first. Passed balls contributed to the scoring of all three runs made by Laughlin. However, in one of these F. Marshall put the scoring player on when he dropped Herbert's fly in the fourth.

Despite these shortcomings the playing was fast on both sides and the issue was in doubt up to the last moment of play.

At the outset of the second the game was delayed a few minutes in a discussion of the judgment of Umpire Douthitt calling Potts out on Herbert's assist, a bit wide. Babb took the ball in his gloved hand, the field arbiter waved the backstop out and instantly turned his back. The ball dropped from Babb's glove. Finally it was ruled that the ball had been temporarily held. No damage occurred, except the loss of time for M. Cebula fanned and Sayers threw out F. Marshall at first.

Wilde Sent Back.

Manager Riley surprised by sending Wilde back to pitch his second straight game. He was in good form. He allowed but six scattered hits, walked two and hit one.

Only in the fourth and seventh when he permitted a walk and a single to be bunched in a single interim was he in any danger. F. Marshall's error in the first of these plus a passed ball, the latter being repeated in the second of these occasions with a sacrifice fly resulted in scoring.

Digman doubled to left in the third after Hunselman had gone out, Wilde to Heckathorne. He reached third on Finley's out, Greene to Heckathorne, from where he scored on a passed ball. Parsons was then retired, Wilde to Heckathorne.

Stoffel, tripling to deep right in the third, scored on Heckathorne's single to middle. Greene flew to Bubin. Heckathorne was caught stealing, Hunselman to Finley. C. Marshall fanned.

After Crawford had fanned in the fourth, F. Marshall dropped Herbert's fly. The latter stole second and a passed ball put him on third, from where he counted on Babb's single to left. Bubin then walked. Sayers was called out on strikes. Hunselman went out, Greene to Heckathorne.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,

Maker of 81 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

Often when the ball falls into a trap at the green it can be taken out with a mashie as well as with the niblick. If the sand is wet or hard packed and the rise to be taken by the ball is small, you can cut it out with the mashie. In doing so, play the ball well forward, off the left toe, then make the blade take the ball cleanly by hitting directly down onto it with the idea of making the blade hit at the point where the ball rests on the sand. You make the shot about as you would an ordinary run-up shot with the mashie. Be careful to hit clear through the ball. If the pin is close, however use the niblick and swing it the same way. Digman to Get Call For Fourth Battle; Riley is Uncertain

The fourth contest of the City Industrial league's "baby world series" will be staged on Saturday afternoon at Newell park. It will go nine innings and will begin at 3 o'clock.

With a two-day rest both clubs probably will go back to the battle with renewed form.

Manager Sol McCoy, of Laughlin, hinted today that he would use Digman on the mound.

Manager Riley has used Wilde in successive games. He is not certain about Saturday's selection. He will have Bennett ready again and, possibly, "Mike," himself.

LAUGHLIN DRILL TOMORROW NIGHT

Manager Sol McCoy of the Laughlin Industrial League club has called his players out for a session on Friday night at Newell park.

McCoy will put the team through a stiff practic workout in preparation for the fourth series battle Saturday at Newell.

Players are asked to report at 5:30 o'clock.

LIBERTY GRID SQUAD FORMING

Jack McLaughlin will preside at the organization of the Liberty football team this evening at the Liberty alleys.

McLaughlin plans the organization of a 150-pound squad and will play largely on the road, with a Saturday game at home now and then.

LOCAL SPORTSMEN TO HOLD SESSION

Session of the East Liverpool-Wellsville branch of the county fish and game association will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the Ingram building in the Diamond.

Routine business matters will be considered by the sportsmen.

After beating the Senators, 2 to 1, on Washington's errors, Detroit lost the second game, 9 to 5.

'Teke' Bough, Star Tackle on Last Year's High Eleven, Goes to Kiski

Clifford A. "Teke" Bough, one of the scrappiest and most efficient linemen turned out by the Blue and White scholastic eleven here in a number of years, today took a step further along the route to higher gridiron glory.

Young Bough left on short notice this morning for Kiskiminetas prep school, at Saltsburg, Pa., and will join the football squad this afternoon at 3 o'clock. His sudden departure was brought about by a wire from Coach James Marks, Kiski mentor, received here last night. Regular class sessions are not scheduled to begin until next Monday.

"Teke" is almost certain of a job with the Kiski combine. He has practically been assured of a berth by Coach Marks and even if this were not the case, his natural capabilities would qualify him for consideration as a first stringer.

Big and rangy, and with sufficient speed to hustle his avoirdupois across the girdiron, he is more or less of a natural born footballer. He's tough and not easily hurt.

Bough played a tackle for the Blue and White last year, although it's rumored he may be tried out on end at Kiski. With the high school eleven, he practically made one side of the line. They didn't go through where "Teke" was.

Bough is a basketball player with a lot of possibilities, too, and this will further add to his value at Kiski. Some ardent fans here, after a session with pencil and paper, have advanced the assertion that "Teke" was capable of collaring the basketball nine times out of 10 in the center jump. It's certain, at that, that few opposing centers were able to shade him consistently.

He is the son of C. A. Bough, cooperage shop operator here. Last year he was president of the senior class of the local high school. He will have a lot of friends rooting for his success at the western Pennsylvania institution.

GUY'S SCHOLASTICS TO DRILL TONIGHT

Guy's Scholastics, football team, will hold a workout this evening at 6 o'clock at Smith Field. The following players are ordered to report:

Edward Carriher, Edward Gillespie, Arch Dalrymple, Chap Finley, Eddie Bayley, John Evans, Tom Springer, John Garron, Bill Wedgewood, Otto McVey, Charles Loughley, Wayne Morrow, Herb Patton, Robinson, Leigh, Arnold Statz, Howard Eckleberry, P. Cebula, F. Amedo, M. Cebula and others.

Digman Twirls Laughlin Into Lead Over Pennant Rivals

Fourth and Crucial Clash to be Fought At Newell Saturday

McCoy Star Holds Chester to Four Blows and Pounds Out Two Himself; Aufderheide's Fly in Last Inning Sends in Captain Finley With Run That Wins Contest.

RETURNING from the western wilds to plague his 1925 diamond comrades, Pitcher Digman, who twirled Laughlin to a 1926 first half pennant, mounted the hilltop in the third City Industrial League "baby world's series" contest yesterday at Smith Field and by holding Chester to four hits while bounding out two of the six drives his club made during the torrid seven-frame battle, defeated the Riley nine, 3 to 2.

The victory give the Laughlins the edge in the series and puts Sol McCoy and his lads within one game of the pennant. On the other hand, a Chester victory in Saturday's clash will even the standing.

The count was tied twice in yesterday's bame, 1 to 1 in the third and 2-2 in the sixth.

Aufderheide, understudying Crawford, who became ill in the sixth and had to retire to the bench, broke the 2-2 deadlock and won the game for Laughlin when, with Finley and Parsons on the bags and one out, he sent a high fly to Mike Cebula in center on which Finley scored.

Digman who had made the second hit of the game, a double, and scored the first run, led off by singling to middle, but was forced by Finley, Wilde to Heckathorne. The latter stole second. Parsons walked. Both moved to third and second, respectively, on a passed ball. Then came "Aufty's" sacrifice. Herbert went out, Wilde to Heckathorne.

Stoffel's Drive Fails.

The score was 3-2 against them as Chester faced Digman in the final frame, Cebula fanned. Darkness closed over the field and a storm rumbled up the valley. Fans rose to their feet, ready for a dash to the exists. Digman, on the hilltop, was going good. F. Marshall drove to Finley, who easily assisted to Babb. Only Stoffel, who had tripled and scored the first tying run for Chester, stood in the way of a Laughlin win.

Dust swept the field in clouds and twice the batter was forced to step aside momentarily.

In dashed Captain Finley and Bagman Herbert. Laughlin rooters howled. Chester devotees handed it back. Umpire Fleming was patient. The wind, subsiding momentarily, permitted the players to get set again. Stoffel connected and the ball took the direction of right field. Despite the dusk, Sayres grabbed it, turned and threw to Babb, completing the identical play that ended the first Laughlin victory in the initial 10-inning contest Saturday.

The score was 2 to 1 in Laughlin's favor at the outset of the second half of the sixth. C. Marshall walked, only to be forced by P. Cebula, Finley to Sayres. The Chester shortstop then stole second and reached third on Hunselman's bad peg to Finley from where he counted as Wilde went out, Finley to Babb, which play, duplicated, retired Potts who followed Wilde at bat.

Ashe is Absent.

Pitcher Ashe, who had twirled both the other series contests for Laughlin, was absent, he having returned to his home. Digman, despite his injured wrist, thus had to work. His permitting but four hits and two passes while sharing with Parsons the swatting honors of his team with his double and single that enabled Laughlin to score the first and pave the way for the final and winning run of the contest indicated that his half season of rest had not seriously interfered with his hurling and playing capabilities.

Chester played with pitchers at second base and in middle field where Stoffel essayed to fill the role of L. McMath and M. Cebula that of Evans respectively. For the first half inning C. Marshall had to cover first as Heckathorne had not yet arrived and G. Cebula filled in during the interim in right field.

M. Cebula, though he failed to hit safely handled every thing that came his way in the garden. He made the most sensational fielding play of the game, a great run-back catch with his back to the crowd, of Digman's long fly in the second which prevented the opposing pitcher from having a perfect day at bat. Stoffel's triple in the second was the longest drive of the game. In the field he had no chances though Parsons' drive in the fifth came right at him, but took a side bound as he poised to grab it.

Evans Out of Game.

Evans, using crutches, sat on the bench as did M. Cebula in the initial contest on Saturday. With two torn ligaments Evans is doubtless out of the game for the series.

Despite the absence of L. McMath and Evans, the Chester outfit fought determinedly. But for three passed balls by Potts they might have won out.

The big back stop with his .444 batting average for the first two games failed to hit safely at all during the game, being retired thrice by infield assists before he reached first. Passed balls contributed to the scoring of all three runs made by Laughlin. However, in one of these F. Marshall put the scoring player on when he dropped Herbert's fly in the fourth.

Despite these shortcomings the playing was fast on both sides and the issue was in doubt up to the last moment of play.

At the outset of the second the game was delayed a few minutes in a discussion of the judgment of Umpire Douthitt calling Potts out on Herbert's assist, a bit wide. Babb took the ball in his gloved hand, the field arbiter waved the backstop out and instantly turned his back. The ball dropped from Babb's glove. Finally it was ruled that the ball had been temporarily held. No damage occurred, except the loss of time for M. Cebula fanned and Sayers threw out F. Marshall at first.

Wilde Sent Back.

Manager Riley surprised by sending Wilde back to pitch his second straight game. He was in good form. He allowed but six scattered hits, walked two and hit one.

Only in the fourth and seventh when he permitted a walk and a single to be bunched in a single interim was he in any danger. F. Marshall's error in the first of these plus a passed ball, the latter being repeated in the second of these occasions with a sacrifice fly resulted in scoring.

Digman doubled to left in the third after Hunselman had gone out, Wilde to Heckathorne. He reached third on Finley's out, Greene to Heckathorne, from where he scored on a passed ball. Parsons was then retired, Wilde to Heckathorne.

Stoffel, tripling to deep right in the third, scored on Heckathorne's single to middle. Greene flew to Bubin. Heckathorne was caught stealing, Hunselman to Finley. C. Marshall fanned.

After Crawford had fanned in the fourth, F. Marshall dropped Herbert's fly. The latter stole second and a passed ball put him on third, from where he counted on Babb's single to left. Bubin then walked. Sayers was called out on strikes. Hunselman went out, Greene to Heckathorne.

Control Of Senate In Doubt.

The reasonable certainty that Gov. Blaine is to come to the Senate from Wisconsin, giving that State for the first time two progressives or insurgens in the upper house of oCngress, ha an undoubtedly important bearing upon the control of that body after March 4 next. It means not only an increase in the so-called insurgent bloc, carrying with that a better prospect of the bloc's holding the balance of power, but it puts a lot of pep in the individual insurgents and tends to the further breaking down of party lines. Men who have long held party regularity the most important part of their political creed will be discouraged, while those who are independently inclined will be correspondingly elated.

tend that the present trend is indicative of a popular dissatisfaction with the existing order of things, and a disposition on the part of the rank and file of the people to experiment with new public servants rather than trust the old and tried, that should give everyone pause.

Control Of Senate In Doubt.

The reasonable certainty that Gov. Blaine is to come to the Senate from Wisconsin, giving that State for the first time two progressives or insurgens in the upper house of oCngress, ha an undoubtedly important bearing upon the control of that body after March 4 next. It means not only an increase in the so-called insurgent bloc, carrying with that a better prospect of the bloc's holding the balance of power, but it puts a lot of pep in the individual insurgents and tends to the further breaking down of party lines. Men who have long held party regularity the most important part of their political creed will be discouraged, while those who are independently inclined will be correspondingly elated.

Through the daily use of Mother's Friend the skin is made soft and pliable—thus aiding Nature to do her part without the unnecessary discomfort and pain. Wonderful for Piles

Suffered for Years; Says There's Only One Remedy

John O'Leary, 297 North Division Street, Buffalo, for 14 years Supervisor of the Second ward, wants to pass the good word along.

"Take it from me," says Mr. O'Leary, "When you suffer torment with piles for many years as I did, and tried all kinds of remedies without any success, you'll be glad to say a good word for the only remedy that is any good."

Peterson's Ointment rid me of piles so quickly that I was astonished. I felt somewhat peeved, however, to think that I had suffered so many years before knowing what a wonderful remedy Peterson's Ointment is. Let me thank you from the bottom of my heart."—John O'Leary.

Any live druggist will tell you about Peterson's Ointment—a big box for 35 cents. Use it for old sores, ulcers, itching eczema, rashes, burns, bruises, chafing and all skin diseases—there is nothing better.

So heavy were the crops in Rumania this season that the government had to mobilize all transport facilities to handle them.
